DEUTSCHLAND SEEMS TO BE NOTHING MORE THAN MERCHANT SHIP

FREIGHT U-BOAT IS READY TO UNLOAD

German Captain Has No Fear of Enemy Cruisers on Return Trip With War Supplies.

SAW NONE COMING OVER

Cheerfully Submits to Thorough Inspection to Show That Vessel is Unarmed and of Peaceful Mission—Tells of Voyage.

Baltimore, July 10—The German submarine merchantman Deutschland tonight was ready to discharge her million dollar cargo and take aboard for the return trip metal and rubber needed by the Emperor's armies and navy. The return merchandise is waiting on the dock and the time for leaving port will depend largely upon plans for eluding vigilant enemy cruisers which it is expected will be waiting outside the Virginia Capes.

Tonight the daring German seamen who brought the submarine merchantman Deutschland across the Atlantic slept quietly aboard their vessel, which lay moored to a carefully screened pier guarded by a strong squad of Baltimore police. Capt. Paul Koenig, the skipper, had delivered his papers to the North German Lloyd office, entered his vessel at the custom house as a commerce carrier and had presented to a German embassy official a pack of correspondence for Count Von Bernstorff.

One of Captain Koenig's first acts after he moved his ship up the harbor from quarantine early today was to announce that the Deutschland was but one of a fleet of mammoth submersibles built or building for a regular trans-Atlantic freight and mail service. He said the next to come would be the "Bremen" and that she might be looked for within eight weeks.

No Sign of Armament.

Anxious to establish promptly his peaceful character and to forestall investigation sought by diplomatic representatives of the allied powers, the German captain submitted his craft to a thorough inspection by the surveyor of the port and an agent of the Department of Justice. These officers, as well as the customs inspectors and quarantine surgeons, agreed that there was no sign of armament of any description on board and that there was no doubt in their minds about the boat being entitled to the status of an ordinary merchantman. Guy V. Steele, the surveyor, made a formal report to this effect to Port Collector Ryan, who transmitted it to the Treasury Department at Washington.

Neither Captain Koenig nor agents of the North German Lloyd Line, to whom the boat is consigned, seemed apprehensive of diplomatic difficulties. It was stated on the authority of the captain that the only arms on board were four automatic pistols belonging to the officers and a sportsman's rifle for firing rockets.

Busy Day for Commander.

This was a busy day for the commander beginning at dawn when quarantine officers went aboard, received the bill of health issued by the American consul at Bremen and passed the Deutschland into port. Once safely alongside of his dock, Captain Koenig called his crew ashore and posed with them for motion picture and newspaper photographers. He laughed and chatted with the camera men and correspondents, but refrained from discussing his achievement until after he had reported to the agents of his owners.

Later, at the office of the North German Lloyd he issued a typewritten statement telling of the coming of other boats like the Deutschland and asserted that his voyage had broken the British control of the seas. At the same time he submitted to an interview in which he described his 3,800 mile cruise from Helgoland to Chesapeake Bay.

Not Chased by Enemy.

He denied reports that he had been chased off his course by enemy warships, declaring that so far as he knew there was not an allied war craft in the Atlantic. The captain asserted further that his voyage had established the fact that a submarine of the type of the Deutchland could travel anywhere that the ordinary vessel could go, 13,000 miles, if necessary. He had no fears, he stated, of his ability to elude enemies that might be waiting for him off the Virginia Capes when he starts his return trip.

"I will be able to submerge within the three-mile limit and they cannot catch me after that," he said.

During nearly the entire voyage said Captain Koenig, the Deutschland traveled on the surface. Once he submerged for ten hours and lay during that time on the bottom of the English channel to escape British destroyers. Captain Koenig piloted his vessel out of Bremen on June 14. He went directly to Helgoland, remaining there nine days. On June 28 the submarine slipped away from the island fortress and the trip which ended in Baltimore today was begun.

Luncheon at German Club.

After completing the formalities with the port authorities Captain Koenig was invited to luncheon as the guest of honor of the German Club and there delivered to Hanjel von Haimhausen, counsellor of the German embassy, the packet of official correspondence destined to Count von Bernstorff.

NO INTERNATIONAL ISSUE IN PROSPECT

All Questions as to Legality of the Status of German Submarine Expected to Clear Soon.

NO PROTEST IN SIGHT

Allied Governments Ask That United States Be Satisfied of Character of Vessel, but Take No Further Action.

Washington, July 10.—Federal officials believed today that the questions of international law raised by the arrival of the Deutschland might soon be cleared away. A preliminary report from Collector Ryan at Baltimore indicated that the vessel was purely a merchant ship, devoid of any peculiar status because of the unprecedented manner of her trip across the Atlantic.

Should this be borne out by the more detailed examination that will be made, officials see no reason for diplomatic complications. There was no prospect tonight that the allied governments were preparing to protest in the event that the Deutschland is held to be a merchantman.

The Navy Department today detailed Captain C. F. Hughes to aid the Baltimore collector in examining the submarine. Another officer familiar with submarine construction will accompany Captain Hughes but they will act merely in an advisory capacity, and the attitude of the government will be determined by the collectors' report.

Rumors that objection might be raised by Captain Koenig of the Deutschland or by German embassy officials to a closer inspection of the submarine on the ground that she is of a secret type of construction were not generally credited by officials. Such opposition would probably result in the recall of Captain Hughes and it would then be incumbent on the German government to offer convincing evidence of the submarine's peaceful character.

The British and French embassies today formally called the State Department's attention to the arrival of the Deutschland, and asked that the United States be satisfied of her character. No protest was made against entry to the port of Baltimore nor against the discharge of the cargo. The question of whether the crew and officers of the submarine might be German reservists aroused some speculation, but the allied diplomats apparently were far from convinced that this would prove a basis for any request for action.

It was said tonight permission would not be given for unloading any of the cargo, for shore leave for any of the submarine's crew or for transmission of the documents described as diplomatic papers brought by Captain Koenig until the State Department had finally passed on the vessel's status. Officials said the investigation would be expedited and they expect to be able to give a ruling within 48 hours at most.

The Deutschland's case is not expected to go before the Neutrality Board unless the Federal investigation leaves some doubt regarding her status.

TO INTIMIDATE NO MAN IN EXERCISE OF RIGHT

Troops Sent to Wilmington to Guarantee Rights of People.

Governor Craig, in Statement Yesterday, Said He Would Not Withdraw Troops Until Requested by Judge.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Asheville, N. C., July 10.—Answering a protest from the people of Wilmington regarding the presence of troops in that city, the protest being signed by Iredell Meares, Governor Craig tonight telegraphed Judge W. P. Stacy that he would not withdraw the troops stationed there until Judge Stacy thinks it best.

Governor Craig stated tonight that the military companies were sent to Wilmington at the request of Judge Stacy, the resident Judge of the district, and at the request of the sheriff of New Hanover county. The troops were asked as a precaution against the lawlessness which many thought was imminent, he said. Continuing the Governor said:

"Judge Stacy and the sheriff are the constituted authorities in Wilmington to maintain order. As long as they think troops necessary, I will not withdraw them. There is no armed intervention, and will be none, unless it is found necessary to protect life and property and the city from violence. There is no purpose to intimidate any man in the full exercise of his rights.

2,500 FAMILIES REPORTED WITHOUT FOOD OR SHELTER

War Department Orders Investigation of Conditions in Bahaba and Alabama Valleys.

DAMAGE TOTALS MILLIONS

Rainfall Has Continued Steadily for More Than 100 Hours at Points in Alabama.

With thousands of persons homeless and destitute and with a growing list of dead, the Federal government yesterday took official notice of the serious flood conditions that have followed the tropical hurricane in the Southern states. At the request of Senator Underwood, the War Department has ordered an engineer to investigate conditions in the Cahaba and Alabama river valleys, where 2,500 families are reported without food or shelter.

The floods have extended into Western North Carolina and rivers, creeks and branches in six Southern states are out of their banks and flooding thousands of acres as a result of unprecedented rainfall since last Wednesday. Nine deaths reported yesterday brought the storm's total to 61 lost and missing.

The damage will total millions of dollars.

In Alabama conditions have assumed the most serious aspect. Continued rainfall for more than 100 hours at some places has crippled wire and rail communications and demoralized business. Railroad yards and manufacturing plants in Montgomery are threatened by the rising waters of the Alabama river and backwater has overflown the greater portion of North Montgomery.

Relief Parties Organized.

Selma citizens yesterday organized relief parties for work among the flood victims along the Cahaba and Alabama river valleys where two thousand families have been driven from their homes.

Prattville, Ala., a town of 3,000 inhabitants, is mostly covered by the waters of Autauga creek, nominally a stream a dozen feet wide, but now a miniature Mississippi.

More than a hundred convicts are marooned at the state convict camp near Montgomery. The waters of the Tallapoosa river have backed up more than a mile, covering the entire state farm.

The Ocmulgee river at East Macon, Ga., has left its banks, surrounding many houses, interrupting the operation of manufacturing plants and rendering many families homeless.

At Columbus, Ga., the Chattahoochee river is threatening industrial plants.

Moultrie, Ga., Cut Off.

Moultrie, Ga., is entirely cut off from telegraphic communication and reports fro mthroughout Southern Georgia tell of serious crop damage and loss of livestock.

The wreck of the fishing smack Philip Keyes off Dauphin Island, near Mobile, added eight persons to the death list from the Gulf hurricane. Two survivors of the crew were picked up at Dauphin Island.

The French Broad river and its tributaries are at flood stage and have seriously damaged crops in Buncombe, Henderson and Transylvania counties, in North Carolina. Railroad traffic throughout the flooded district is badly delayed.

Moss Point, Mississippi, experienced a rainfall of 12 inches in the 24 hours following the gulf storm, and every residence and business house in the town wa sdamaged. Street cars and lighting plants were put out of commission.

A number of saw mills and canning factories were demolished at Pascagoula, Miss., and virtually every structure in the place was damaged.

Extensive damage was done to timber, sawmills and crops near Hattiesburg.

Many Houses Damaged.

Not more than a dozen of the 2,400 houses in Laurel, Miss., escaped damage.

The corn crop in that section is reported 75 per cent. destroyed.

Four hundred persons are homeless in the Dayton, Tenn., district, on account of the overflow of Tennessee river. A ten-year boy missing since Sunday has been discovered alive on a drift but cannot be rescued until the waters subside. Railway traffic is badly crippled.

PERSONS RESCUED FROM TREE TOPS; CROPS ALL UNDER WATER

Montgomery, Ala., July 10—Hundreds of people are homeless and millions of dollars of damage has been done to property and crops by the high waters from the Alabama river. From all sections of the middle and southeastern section of Alabama come reports of persons being rescued from tree tops and flourishing crops of cotton and corn entirely covered with water. So far as is known the loss of life has been very small. Two negroes are reported dead at Geneva, Ala. The suffering among the inhabitants of the storm section is great. Relief parties have been organized in several towns to care for the homeless.

Besides the damage to other property, which will reach into millions of dollars in this state, Alabama's corn and cotton crop has suffered at least $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 damage as the result of the week's storm and heavy rains, according to an estimate made by J. A. Wade, state commissioner of agriculture, today.

Great damage is reported along the Coosa river, a rise of three feet an hour

PRESIDENT URGES PEACE BY MUTUAL "COMPREHENSION" INSTEAD OF FORCE

In Address in Detroit He Defends Democratic Party as a Friend of Business.

APPLAUDED BY THRONGS

Thousands Shout Greetings at Him at Every Appearance; "Peace" Response of Audience.

SPEAKS AT TOLEDO, ALSO

Says No War Until It is an Unmistakable Necessity.

Detroit, Mich., July 10.—President Wilson urged peace reached by mutual understanding rather than force and defended the Democratic party as a friend of business in speeches today to an enthusiastic Michigan audience. Thousands of persons shouted greetings at him wherever he appeared, the hall in which he spoke to the World's Salesmanship Congress was jammed and an audience estimated at 50,000 greeted him at the Ford Motor plant.

Tonight in Toledo another throng listened to his brief rear-platform address.

"Peace" was the shouted response of the salesmanship audience when the President asked what they desired when the present struggles are at an end. And he added that "permanent peace" was his desire.

At a non-partisan luncheon in the Detroit Athletic club the President sprang to the defense of the Democrats.

"We have common interests and it is our business to understand and serve those common interests," he said. "The great difficulty that has confronted us gentlemen, has often been that we have deliberately looked at these common interests from self-chosen angles, which made them look as if some of us were separated from others and as if some of us wanted to depress business, for example, and others of us wanted to exalt business.

"I dare say that you have noticed that the same necessity to make a living is imposed upon Democrats as Republicans and I dare say you are ready to believe that Democrats are just as willing to make a good living as Republicans. Therefore, it seems to me logically to follow, though I have been quoted as having no regard for logic, that Democrats are naturally as much interested in the business prosperity of the United States as anybody else. So that if you believe that they are not as fitted to guide it as other persons, you cannot be doubting their interest; you are only impugning their intelligence."

The suspicion is beginning to dawn, he added, that the average man understands the business necessities of the country as well as the extraordinary man.

The Federal Reserve act, the President said, had been earnestly opposed by some of the most intelligent business men of the country.

Saved From Ruinous Panic.

"By this act we succeeded in taking credit out of the control of a small number of men," he continued, "and making it available to everybody who had real commercial assets, and the very men who opposed that act and opposed it conscientiously now admit that it saved the country from a ruinous panic when the stress of war came on and that it is the salvation of every average business man who is in the midst of the tides that I have been trying to describe."

But One Soil for Peace.

Addressing the salesmen, President Wilson declared in part:

"We desire permanent peace; permanent peace can grow only in one soil. That is the soil of actual good will, and good will can not come without mutual comprehension.

"I hear some gentlemen say that they want to help Mexico and the way they propose to help her is to overwhelm her with force. That is the long way as well as the wrong way. Because, after the fighting you have a nation full of justified suspicion and animated by well founded hostility and hatred, and then will you help them? Then will you establish cordial busi-

VIOLENT FIGHTING PERSISTS ON TWO GREAT WAR FRONTS

Russians Have Crossed the Stokhod River at Various Points, Says Allied Report.

FRENCH CAPTURE HILL 97

British Statement Says Germans Have Entered Trones Wood in Western Theatre.

London, July 10.—Violent fighting persists on the two battle fronts with fluctuating fortunes, and has brought to British minds the warnings of correspondents from the opening of the Somme battle, that the steady, methodical pressure, rather than brilliant advances must be expected. The Russians have crossed the Stokhod river at many points, and their continued progress is the outstanding feature of the Allied offensive.

The British official statement tonight says the Germans have entered Trones wood and records further progress east of Ovillers and LaBoiselle, in addition to a footing secured by the British in the Mametz wood where the Germans had resisted all British efforts. In a brilliant attack the French have carried Hill 97, a height which dominates the Somme southeast of Biaches, according to the Paris official statement.

The German official communication admits French possession of Biaches, only a short distance from Peronne, which town is thus seriously exposed and threatened.

German war correspondents are already claiming that the Allied offensive has been brought to a standstill.

The correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt with the Austrian army testifies to the inexhaustible supply of Russian troops, the great efficiency of the Russian artillery and cavalry and the endless supplies of ammunition, as in great contrast to the condition of the Russian forces last year.

The Germans are continuing their strong attacks along the Russian front but the view is held here that this is only with the object of gaining time to perfect the defenses of Kovel and Vladimir-Volynski and to remove large store of military material from these points to Brest-Litovsk and Ivangorod.

GERMANS ENTER TRONES WOOD AFTER SIX DESPERATE ATTACKS

London, July 10. — After the sixth desperate attack this afternoon the Germans succeeded in entering Trones wood, according to the British official statement, issued tonight. This was at the expense of very heavy casualties, the statement adds, and the fighting in the wood continues.

The statement says:

"This afternoon, after the sixth desperate attack the Germans succeeded in entering Trones wood at the expense of very heavy casualties. The fighting in the wood continues.

"Further west we gained lodgment in the Mamatz wood, where the enemy's defense hitherto had resisted all our efforts. We also gained ground east of Ovillers and Laboiselle.

"Yesterday the royal flying corps operated several successful bombing attacks against various detraining centers, ammunition depots and aerodromes and numerous combats occurred in the air, as a result of which one German machine was destroyed and several others were driven to the ground in a damaged condition."

FRENCH HAVE CARRIED HILL 97 IN A BRILLIANT ATTACK

Paris, July 10. — In a brilliant attack the French have carried Hill 97, a height which dominates the Somme southeast of Biaches, according to the official statement issued by the French war office tonight.

The statement follows:

"North of the Somme the day passed quietly. South of the river we made some progress in the region between Biaches and Barleux.

"In the neighborhood of Biaches, we captured an old fort where a detachment of the enemy still maintained themselves. We took 113 prisoners, of which ten were officers.

"Southeast of Biaches, a brilliant attack enabled us to capture Hill 97, a height which dominates the ricer, and had been strongly held by the enemy.

"We also took La Maisonnette farm and a little wood to the north of La Maissonnette. Some of the enemy still hold out in a redoubt at the extremity of this wood.

"On the front north of Verdun the enemy artillery violently bombarded our positions in the region of Froide Terre, Fleury and the Fumin wood. Our batteries replied energetically. There was no event of importance on the rest of this front.

"Our aviators attacked a number of German machines yesterday in the region of the Somme. Four of the enemy aircraft were driven down within their own lines. Last night one of our air squadrons threw a number of shells on the railroad station at Hem and Polain Court."

Washington, July 10.—Answers received today by the public health service in response to inquiries regarding the prevalence of infantile paralysis showed that the disease is not epidemic outside of New York. It was estimated tonight that there were not more than 75 cases throughout the country other than in New York, and this number according to Dr. E. A. Sweet who has charge of the inquiry, is about normal for July. Several states reported no cases and the average per state was not more than three.

AMICABLE AGREEMENT IN STREET CAR STRIKE REACHED LAST NIGHT

FEELS SURE THERE CAN BE NO BREAK

General Calles Says He Has Ordered Demobilization of His Troops Near Border.

SENDS TROOPS TO FARMS

Military Commander at Sonora Makes Remarkable Statement to the Associated Press—Seems to be Going in for Peace.

Douglas, Ariz., July 10.—In a statement issued to the Associated Press tonight General Calles, military commander at Sonora, said:

"Advices I received today from Mexico City were so satisfactory they made me feel so sure there can be no break oetween Mexico and the United States that I have ordered the demobilization of my troops now in the border districts and their discharge from the national service and ordered the re-opening of all public offices along the border.

"I have also extended an invitation to foreigners to return to Sonora and will protect them and their property.

"All of the volunteers who took up arms for their country have been ordered to their homes to plant their fields and aid the government in bringing about a return of normal conditions.

"The railroads of Sonora will reopen for public traffic immediately, and I have ordered the bulk of my troops to proceed to the Yaqui river valley to take up the Indian campaign once more in order that life and property of Mexicans and foreigners might be safe.

"Each of my subordinate commanders has been instructed to punish any one, soldier or civilian, who does not extend every courtesy to foreigners."

General Calles sent the same message to General Davis, commander of the Arizona district, tonight.

The managers of several of the large mining properties in Sonora held conferences with General Calles today by his request and personally received the invitation of the Mexican government to return to work with their foreign employes. Several indicated that they were ready to return to work as soon as the embargo against explosives had been raised.

A number of smaller properties will re-open at once.

BANDITS HEADED AGAIN FOR BORDER SAYS ARREDONDO

Washington, July 10.—Acting Secretary Polk, of the State Department, and Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, conferred briefly today but no definite steps were taken toward beginning the proposed negotiations for settlements of differences between two governments. The conference was in formal and followed the ambassador's visit to the department with further advices from his government regarding operations of Villa bandits near Corralitos, Mexico. The defacto authorities, Mr. Arredondo said, had secured more definite information to the effect that the bandits were headed toward Boquillas or some point near there on the Texas border. The ambassador renewed the warning pre-

PUBLISHERS POSTPONE PROGRAMME FOR A DAY

Trains for Asheville Delayed by Flood and Rain.

Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association Convenes in Annual Session Today—Prominent Speakers Absent.

Asheville, N. C., July 10.—The delay of passenger trains owing to the heavy rainstorms and floods, with the consequent non-arrival of many members of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, caused the postponement until tomorrow of the entire programme scheduled for today's session of the 14th annual convention of the association.

Among the scheduled speakers failing to arrive were P. C. McDuffie, president of the Atlanta Ad Men's Club, who was to have spoken this afternoon on "Insurance Advertising." Another absentee was Russell R. Whitman, managing director of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Both are expected to arrive tonight and today's and tomorrow's programmes will be carried out. About 60 members of the association have arrived and it is expected that at least that many more will come in on tonight's trains.

The following committees were appointed this morning by President W. T. Anderson, of the Macon Telegraph:

Striking Employes of Tidewater Power Company to Return to Work This Morning.

START CARS TODAY NOON

Committee of One Hundred to be Appointed to Pass On the Future Policy

PUBLIC IS MUCH PLEASED

Citizens' Committee Did Most Faithful Work.

The street car strike in Wilmington, inaugurated July Fourth, will be terminated today at noon, an agreement satisfactory to both the Tidewater Power Company and its employes having been reached last night through the mediation of the Citizens' committee of ten men, after four days of arduous and patient work. The agreement provides that all striking employes with the exception of ten men, in whose places other men have been employed during the past week, shall be employed by the Tidewater, and the company promises to use its best efforts to employ the latter within 30 days.

The settlement of the controversy provides that the Citizens' committee shall appoint a committee of one hundred men to pass upon the question of approving or disapproving the future policy of the Tidewater Power Company. It is agreed that the men will apply individually for their positions today at 11 o'clock, and they will be assigned their runs by General Manager Skelding at noon.

The settlement of the differences will be received with great joy by the general public, which has deeply and keenly regretted the unfortunate controversy. While conditions brought about following the calling of the strike caused the authorities to feel that it would be well to bring in four companies of militia to quell any possible violence, in justice to the employes of the Tidewater Power Company, it should be said that they did not participate in anything that was disorderly and that their conduct at all times has been that of gentlemen. However, with the removal of any cause of complaint, it is expected that the members of the four militia companies will be allowed to return to their homes today.

The Faithful Committee.

Certainly not within many years in the city of Wilmington has any public committee ever rendered more efficient, careful and painstaking work than did the committee of ten which was appointed on last Thursday afternoon. These men representing practically every phase of life in the city were in session daily from 10 to 12 hours, including Sunday, when they met at 11 A. M. and continued in session until 11 P. M. Many times their task seemed hopeless, but they were patient and always hopeful. These men, to whom the public is under lasting obligation, were:

Archdeacon Thos. P. Noe, chairman; Woodus Kellum, Esq., secretary of the committee, and Messrs. J. Allan Taylor, S. J. Ellis, W. H. Sprunt, W. H. Register, K. W. Jewell, J. H. Curtis, and Hon. John D. Bellamy and R. H. Brady.

Following the lengthy session Sunday which seemingly resulted in little progress being made, the committee met yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. At that time a letter was received from the motormen and conductors of the Tidewater Power Company, 58 in all, pledging themselves to accept the provisions of Mr. Hugh MacRae's letter of Sunday with the exception that they asked that the ten men, whom Mr. MacRae had said he could not employ, should be taken back within 30 days, if the best efforts of the company would make it possible. The committee thereupon addressed a letter to Mr. Hugh MacRae, president of the company, recommending its acceptance.

In reply Mr. MacRae in a letter to the committee stated his willingness to do this and further said that he would be glad to go further and suggest that a committee of one hundred be appointed to pass upon the future policy of the Tidewater towards the public. With the receipt of this letter, which was shortly after 6 o'clock, the committee felt that it was well on its way to a settlement, which was indeed the case. After going into every detail with Mr. MacRae, General Manager A. B. Skelding and Vice President M. F. H. Gouverneur, the committee at 9 o'clock adjourned with a prayer by Archdeacon Noe.

Committee of One Hundred.

In accordance with the suggestion of Mr. MacRae, the Citizens' committee adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of one hundred and will meet today at 12:30 o'clock at the City Hall for the purpose of appointing the committee. The committee of one hundred will meet Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock for the purpose of organizing. The personnel of the committee is stated in the resolution which is as follows:

"Whereas, Mr. Hugh MacRae, president of the Tidewater Power Company, has suggested the appointment of a committee of one hundred disinterested citizens of the city of Wilmington, to pass upon the question of approving or disapproving the policy of the Tidewater Power Company and the future policy of the public toward the Tidewater Power Company.

"Therefore, Be it Resolved, That this committee appoint a committee of 100

THOUSANDS URGE WILMINGTON MAN

At Least 1,000 Messages to Wilson in Carr's Behalf on File at White House.

AND NO END IN SIGHT

J. O. Carr, Esq., Certain to be Appointed District Attorney if Endorsement of State's Lawyers Has Any Effect.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., July 10.—If the lawyers of North Carolina have any influence with political affairs in Washington, James Osborn Carr, of Wilmington, is going to be named district attorney for the Eastern district of North Carolina. No candidate for office has ever received a stronger endorsement than has Mr. Carr, nor has any other candidate been able to enlist the support of such an array of prominent men.

It is conservatively estimated that no less than a thousand letters and telegrams are already filed with President Wilson indorsing the Wilmington man. As each letter or telegram is sent to the President copies are mailed to Senator Overman and, it is presumed, to Senator Simmons also. Some of these letters have as many as 30 signatures and few of them have less than five or six. They come from all sections of the State and show that the State bar is practically unanimous for Mr. Carr. Political lines apparently are to be eliminated in this fight so far as these petitions are concerned, for among the names signed to many of the letters are noted Republicans as well as Democrats.

While it is understood that some letters of indorsement are being prepared in favor of E. F. Aydlett, of Elizabeth City, there does not seem to be the remotest possibility of any one receiving near so many as are already in the hands of President Wilson favoring the Wilmington lawyer.

Bailey Seems Overlooked.

It is apparent that the legal fraternity of the State has either overlooked the fact that Collector J. W. Bailey, of Raleigh, has been mentioned for the place or they do not figure him in the running.

So far as can be learned in Washington, not a single letter of indorsement by the lawyers of the State has been filed for the Raleigh collector. It is apparent, too, that the lawyers want the district attorney's place to go to a man who is following the profession solely as a livelihood.

Here are some of the lawyers who have asked President Wilson to name Mr. Carr: Judge W. R. Allen, of Goldsboro, personal friend of Senator Simmons and three times mentioned as a possible candidate for the Supreme Court of the United States; the bar associations of the following counties and towns: New Hanover, Sampson, Pender, Lenoir, Wilson, Wilkes, Columbus, the city of Washington, N. C., Buncombe, Charlotte, including 36 members; Alamance, Scotland, Edgecombe, Rowan, Durham county, and in addition W. A. Guthrie sent a letter along for good measure; Cumberland, the bar association of Greensboro, Brunswick county, Duplin, Onslow, Surry, Jackson and Wayne; the cities of Snow Hill, Murphy; the chamber of commerce of Wilmington.

In addition to these letters Mr. Thomas W. Davis, of Wilmington, wrote Senator Simmons asking that he give the North Carolina lawyer friends of Mr. Carr from all sections of the State a hearing, that they desired to come here in person and present the claims of the Wilmington attorney. Mr. Davis suggested that the senior senator select a date so that the entire delegation could meet here on the same day.

Mr. Davis said that more indorsements for Carr would be on the way to Washington by Monday and urged that the senior senator give these petitions careful consideration. In a letter to President Wilson, signed by 36 Wilmington lawyers, the President is told of the qualifications of Mr. Carr.

"In urging upon you the appointment of Mr. Carr," the letter says, "we desire to say that he is a high type of a gentleman; a lawyer of marked ability and recognized as a leader of the bar of North Carolina. He is a man of the highest character; for years a practicing attorney in the Federal courts of North Carolina, and if appointed he will come to his office fully equipped in every way for the performance of his duties and will be a credit, not only to the office but to the administration appointing him. Mr. Carr is a man of prominence in the State, being a nominee for elector-at-large for the Eastern district of North Carolina; has been a member of the State Democratic committee of North Carolina for many years; is an ardent supporter of the administration and Senator Simmons; has fought hard and given of his time and money for many years, and has never asked for office or other things at the hands of the party."

With such strong recommendation as the above, and all of the letters are equally as strong, it is not seen just how political methods can have preferment over the ability and high standing of Mr. Carr. As already stated, it is believed the well laid plans to name Bailey have been broken up, at least they have been given the severst shock that part of the machinery has ever received. P. R. A.

BURGAW HAPPENINGS.

News and Personal Items of Interest From Pender's Capital.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., July 10.—The board of commissioners were in special session today to receive the returns of the tax listers and also to hear and adjust any complaints that might be made as to excessive valuations.

It is the general report that the crops around this section are looking very fine, especially fine, the corn crops. Some of the farmers are experimenting with Sudan grass this year and if they find it a success, there will be a larger acreage next year.

The last one of the five young men who were arrested here for having too much whiskey in their possession a week or two ago, gave bond a day or so ago, and was released, the other four having previously been released on bond.

After having been empty since January court the jail is beginning to get some occupants, the jailer reporting four taken in within the past week. As there is no term of criminal court here until November, the prisoners will have quite a long rest spell. This is a condition that should be changed at the next session of the Legislature, as there is a regular session of Superior court in September, but for the trial of civil cases only.

Dr. George A. Carr Is On Bridal Tour

DURHAM DENTIST IN RICHMOND IS ON WAY TO THE NORTH WITH TRAINED NURSE BRIDE OF VIRGINIA CITY

(Special Star Telegram.)

Richmond, Va., Va., July 10.—Friends of Miss Ethel C. Harwood, pretty and attractive trained nurse of this city, were given quite a surprise today when they learned of her marriage here Saturday night to Dr. George A. Carr, prominent dentist of Durham, N. C., who recently divorced his first wife, Mrs. Bettie Hunt Carr, as a result of her being named defendant in a $20,000 alienation suit brought by Mrs. Richard E. Kendall, of Richmond.

The news was contained in a brief note from her written at Fredericksburg. The two are now motoring north and it is understood that Atlantic City is one of their objectives.

A singular feature is that Mrs. Kendall, who, it will be recalled, compromised her alienation action a month or so after it was instituted, left today for Atlantic City with her little son and maid to spend the remainder of the summer there.

Dr. Carr got his license here Saturday afternoon several hours after the marriage bureau had closed for the day. He first called at the home of Deputy Clerk "Billy" Breeden and found him out. He then called on Clerk Walter Christian and was accommodated with the desired legal certificate.

Durham, N. C., July 10.—Dr. George A Carr, prominent dentist, was married to Miss Ethel Harwood, a trained nurse of Richmond, Va., Saturday night, according to advices reaching here today. The marriage, which occurred in Richmond, was not made public until today. The Carrs are now touring the North.

Dr. Carr was granted a divorced from Bettie Hunt Carr on statutory grounds in the local court less than a month ago.

FREIGHT U-BOAT READY TO UNLOAD

The counsellor had journeyed here from New York, was a guest with the Deutschland's master at the luncheon and went back to New York tonight.

"I have come here," said the embassy representative, "to present the personal compliments of Count von Bernstorff in the Deutschland. Captain Koenig has him upon his wonderful achievement. The ambassador has no official interest in the Deutchland. Captain Koenig has turned over to me some correspondence which I am taking back to the ambassador, but I have no knowledge of its nature."

Captain Koenig ate a hearty meal at the luncheon—fresh vegetables and fresh meat—the first he had tasted since his departure from Bremen.

Captain Koenig then returned to the offices of his agents, and, meeting newspaper men, furnished them with details of his voyage and the construction of the submarine.

Describes the Voyage.

"Before beginning our trip," said Captain Koenig, "we had several weeks of practice in our vessel in the Baltic sea so that the members of the crew might thoroughly familiarize themselves with her. We left Bremen without any ceremonies. Of course, that was necessary because the voyage was to be kept secret. Outside of the owners and the admiralty no one knew where we were going except Mr. Fee, the American consul at Bremen, from whom it was necessary to obtain our bill of health. I am sure Mr. Fee kept the secret well."

"When we got to Helgoland we decided that it was best to stay there a little while. We could not be absolutely sure that news of our departure might not reach the British admiralty and we thought it prudent to tarry and to fool the British ships if they were hunting especially for us.

"During the time we spent in the waters of Helgoland we continued our practice and shifted the ballast and cargo to trim her properly for the long voyage.

"Coming through the North Sea, we saw hostile destroyers, cruisers and patrol boats and submerged five times. I do not think the enemy vessels saw us. In the English channel we submerged six times in all and in the Atlantic four, the last occasion being when we sighted a United Fruit Company's steamer the day before our arrival at the capes. We passed her about 30 miles out. I do not believe the ship, which was flying an American flag, knew we were in her neighborhood.

"When we left Bremen, we had 180 tons of fuel oil aboard and there now are 95 tons. We had 20 tons of water when we started and still have 10 left.

"Our voyage proves that a submarine of the Deutschland type can go anywhere in the world. She has a cruising radius of 13,000 miles."

Captain Koenig was asked to explain what devices the Deutschland had for finding her way under water and avoiding danger.

"We have two," he said. "One is the microphone, the other a sounding apparatus. With the microphone you can hear submarine bell buoys six miles away and the propellers of ships still further. By the tone of the noise made by the screw of a vessel you can tell her type. A destroyer makes a loud hum, a cruiser's is lower.

"The sounding apparatus can be worked while we are running submerged and is let down through the bottom of the boat through a tube equipped with valves. In this submarine we can do everything under the surface that we can do on it. We can drop anchors while submerged; cruise below the surface four days if necessary, or lie still on the bottom until our food and water gives out. And you can believe me, that we can carry a large quantity of both."

Asked how he and his men employed their time while making the voyage, the captain said:

"We had phonographs. They were a source of much entertainment. We had about 100 records. There were some American rag-time songs, some marches, and some dances. Selections from Peer Gynt is what we played to pass away the time at the bottom of the English channel. No, we did not have a record of 'Tipperary'."

The captain seemed to enjoy the reference to the English marching song.

"Of course," he continued, "all the men smoked while they were on deck. It is forbidden to smoke below deck in a submarine. There is the danger of fire and then you know there are all kinds of tobacco, good and bad. We read a lot, too. I have aboard a library of 40 volumes. There is Shakespeare. Who wouldn't have Shakespeare in a library? I'll bet Shakespeare is more widely read in Germany than it is in England. And then I have some of Bret Harte, W. W. Jacob's Sea Tales, Mark Twain's Innocents Abroad, and Charles Dickens. Oh, yes, I have a very fine English library. No, I haven't Jules Verne's 'Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea.' It requires too much imagination to read that.

Captain Oldest Aboard.

"I am the oldest man on the boat. I'm 49 and the youngest member of the crew is 21. Nearly all of us have left wives and children behind in Germany. I am a native of Saxony, but my home has been in Bremen since 1883."

Captain Koenig was today the recipient of hundreds of congratulatory telegrams from all sections of the country. Many of them came from German societies who were anxious to have the commander and his officers as guests. The local German colony is already making arrangements to give the crew a celebration and an outing. Captain Koenig and his officers probably will be guests of honor at a formal dinner which it is planned to hold soon at the German Club.

Lake Sees Captain.

Simon Lake, submarine inventor, came here today from Bridgeport, Conn., and saw Captain Koenig. He refused to discuss the report that he purposed to bring litigation against the Deutschland and her owners for alleged infringement of patents of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company. He declared that the chief purpose of his visit was to congratulate the Deutschland's commander for his exploit. Captain Koenig said that Mr. Lake had said nothing to him of any intention to bring legal action.

The inventor visited the vessel in a launch but did not board her.

Commander of the German Fleet, who has been in that position for the past eight months, succeeding the late Admiral Von Pohl. He is considered one of the ablest strategists and tactitians in the Kaiser's Navy.

JAS. MORSE SAYS HE IS NOW ABLE TO TIE HIS SHOES

Phoenix Business Man Tells Strong Story About Tanlac While Visiting Wilmington.

"After suffering for years from paralysis and general weakness Tanlac has helped me so that I can now tie my own shies," enthusiastically declared Jame Morse to the Tanlac representative several days ago, at the Bellamy Drug Store.

Mr. Morse is a business man of Phoenix, and made it a point to see the Tanlac Man upon his recent visit to this city to personally tell him how Tanlac, the one of all medicines he tried, helped him.

"Yes, Sir, there is nothing like this Tanlac," Mr. Morse continued. "The two bottles I have taken have made me feel stronger and better than I had really hoped for, especially after I failed to gain on all the treatments I tried in the past five years.

"I suffered so from paralysis and general weakness that I could not attend to my duties in the store. I could scarcely walk. I spent lots of money with doctors and for medicines, but didn't get relief until I started Tanlac.

"The change in me has been remarkable. I feel strong enough to work, and, I am glad to say, I can walk better than for a long time and get about fine. Just think! I can tie my own shoes. I hope my story will reach the eyes of others so they may gain as I have."

Tanlac is sold and explained in Wilmington exclusively at the Bellamy Drug Store; Burgaw, C. L. Halstead; Rocky Point, A. N. Rhodes & Co.; Magnolia, J. L. Southall; Southport, Watson's Pharmacy; Supply, G. W. Kirby; New Bern, Bradham Drug Co. Each town has its Tanlac druggist.—adv.

Clogged Livers Make Tired, Nervous People

A Wineglassful of Tollo Water Before Breakfast Cleans Out the Bile and Gives Relief in Thirty Minutes

Thousands of tired, nervous, rundown people have been built up by drinking the water of Dawson Springs, Kentucky. This is proof that a clogged liver is the primary cause of a run-down condition, because the waters of Dawson Springs have the property of cleaning the liver and restoring it to normal action.

Tollo Water is concentrated and bottled at this famous health resort and you can derive all its benefits in your own home. If you wake up in the morning with a dull, heavy head, if you are nervous and irritable, if you have to drive yourself through the day, take about a third of a tumbler of Tollo Water in a glass of drinking water before breakfast and you will begin to feel good in thirty minutes.

Stop taking calomel and strong drugs that salivate, gripe and sicken. They are dangerous and their effect is only temporary. Tollo Water is nature's liver cleanser—it flushes and bathes the liver and bowels. Its action is mild and pleasant. It stimulates the liver to do its work in a natural way.

When your liver is active and unobstructed all the waste matter is carried out of your body and your food enters a sweet, clean stomach from which the nourishment is sent to every tired nerve and muscle in the body.

An occasional Tollo Water liver bath will keep the bowels regular and the whole system strong and healthy. A 15-cent bottle obtainable at all druggists is sufficient for several days. Sold by D. A. Elvington and other druggists.

IT'S A HUNGRY OLD WORLD.

Failure of Food Supply May be Most Powerful Factor.

(From the Savannah News.)

Peace is the greatest friend of plenty. The world is today doing what Swift said he would not do; it is quarreling with its bread and butter. Almost daily there is news of bread riots among the residents of the warring nations. Disorders of this nature are now prevalent in neutral Greece. The food question is sorely trying the governments that are engaged in war, especially those that are being subjected to a more or less airtight blockade.

A great part of the world, even the civilized world, is today suffering the curse of hungre. Production has been curtailed almost to the point of cessation in some quarters, but the gods of war have found no means of safely reducing consumption to a corresponding degree. Herein lies one of the most pathetic phases of war, and one in which nearly everyone can sympathize wit some measure of real understanding.

Hunger will be one of the big factors in restoring peace in Europe, but it may also be instrumental in bringing war upon Mexico. This, however, is only because with the Mexicans hunger is combined with ignorance and blind prejudice. They are being taught that America is responsible for their distress but their leaders know that famine is abroad in the land only because destruction has for years displaced production. Hunger, as much as anything, is making the whole world akin today.

HAVE SERVED THEIR PURPOSE.

Deposits of Special Crop Funds in the South to be Withdrawn.

Washington, July 10.—Secretary McAdoo today ordered withdrawn from Federal Reserve banks at Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas $5,000,000 each, placed there last September to assist in moving and marketing crops. The withdrawals will be made July 15, the Secretary announced, because the deposits have served their purposes.

ICE CREAM DEALERS WARNED

If Product is Not Standard, Fact Must Be Placarded—Inspections Promised Soon.

Raleigh, N. C., July 10.—Ice cream dealers in North Carolina must comply with the law or be reported to the courts for violation of the law, is the edict that goes out from the State Department of Agriculture, which has just issued this "Notice to Ice Cream Dealers:"

"The Department of Agriculture whose duty it is to enforce the State food laws has spent a good deal of time in effort to cause the ice cream dealers of the State to know the requirements of the law, and how to comply with them.

"If your product is not standard ice cream, then you must show to your customers by placard in your place of business or by tag or label on the freezer or package that the product you sell is not ice cream but a compound ice cream or something sold as a substitute for ice cream, provided for by the ice cream regulation.

"The regulation provides for the sale of products that are not standard ice cream. If the regulation is not complied with the officials will take it to mean that you are selling your product as ice cream.

"Ice cream can not be made from milk. To make ice cream requires not less than three or three and one-half parts of cream to one part of milk. The proportion of crea mand milk that can be used depends upon the richness of them; that is, upon the milk fat that they contain.

"Inspection will be made soon and places where ice cream is made or sold must be clean and in a sanitary condition.

"As yet no prosecutions have been made of the ice cream dealers, but they have been given ample opportunity to comply with the law, and in the future violations will have to be reported to the courts."

Rulings of the State Board of Agriculture, under the Food Law, in regard to the manufacture or sale of ice cream are as follows:

"1. Ice cream is a frozen product made from cream and sugar, with or without a natural flavoring, and contains not less than 10 per cent. of milk fat.

"2. Fruit ice cream is a frozen product made from cream, sugar and sound, clean, mature fruits, and contains not less than 8 per cent. of milk fat.

"3. Nut ice cream is a frozen product made from cream, sugar and sound, nonrancid nuts, and contains not less than 8 per cent. of milk fat.

"The sale of a product as ice cream containing gelatine, eggs, gum tragacanth or other vegetable gum, or the sale of a product as icecream which contains less than the required per cent. of milk fat will not be contested, provided the same is labeled and sold as milk ice cream, imitation ice cream, compound ice cream, gelatine ice cream, egg ice cream or gum ice cream (as the case may be); or if a placard bearing the following statement—

"'Milk ice crea mis served here.'
"'Compound ice cream is served here.'
"'Imitation ic cream is served here.'
"'Egg ic ecream is served here.'
"'Gelatine ice cream is served here, or "Gum ice cream is served here', (as the case may be), shall be posted in a conspicuous place in the room where any and all persons may see the same when purchasing cream; and Provided, further, that the statement on the placard is printed in plain black letters, not less than one inch in size, on a white background."

SOUTHERN FORESTRY CONGRESS MEETS IN ASHEVILLE TODAY.

Governor Craig to Welcome Delegates From Eight Affiliated Bodies.

Asheville, N. C., July 10.—Eight affiliated bodies will be welcomed to Asheville Tuesday morning in connection with the Southern Forestry Congress. Governor Locke Craig will make the address of welcome. Bishop Junius Horner has agreed to be present and deliver the invocation. Delegates from various affiliated bodies all over the United States will be present at this meeting, for the Southern Forestry Congress is Southern in name only, and numbers among its members some of the most distinguished men in the United States. Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association, is on the programme for a speech, and Edmund Seymour, president of the American Bison Society, New York, will speak in connection with the plan to place bison in the national forests here. H. S. Graves, chief United States forester, is another speaker who will have a message for the delegates. The congress lasts through Saturday. On that date the delegates will hold a session at the top of Mt. Mitchell, the highest point east of the Rockies. During their stay in the city the delegates will be taken through the Biltmore estate and the Pisgah National forest, as well as other points of interest.

As a result of these meetings steps are expected to be taken which will have a far-reaching effect on the future of North Carolina, and may restore it to its former place as one of the leading naval stores centers of the United States.

ELIZABETH CITY TO DEAL HARSHLY WITH SPEEDERS.

Board of Aldermen Orders Police to Enforce Motor Laws to the Letter.

Elizabeth City, N. C., July 10.—Judge E. L. Sawyer was a busy man Saturday in the recorder's court. The board of aldermen instructed the police department to enforce the law prohibiting the speeding of automobiles and the use of glaring big headlights.

The following cases were disposed of: Frank Grice, Jr., was fined $10 and costs for violating the headlight law; Charlie Ives was handed the same for a like offense; Dol. Pastergield was fined $15 and costs for speeding and driving his car on the sidewalk; Sydney Davis was charged $5 and costs for riding his bike on the sidewalk, as well as Wiley Davis, who was handed the same dose; C. W. Brown and Alton Willis were taxed the same amount for the same offense.

The board of aldermen is determined to break up speeding in the city limits and the big headlights some of the automobiles turn on at night. Several accidents have happened in the past few weeks and the authorities have instructed the police to enforce the law to the letter.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell.

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

TOP O' THE MORNING.

A man lives by believing something, not by debating and arguing about many things.
—THOMAS CARLYLE.

It is as difficult to dislodge error as it is to enthrone truth.

The unexpected generally happens all of a sudden.

Hatred rarely yields to argument but generally dies with old age.

A middle-of-the-road neutral policy never looks so to the rank partisan on either side.

Jealousy is the green-eyed monster, envy is the yellow-eyed monster and prejudice is the red-eyed monster.

Some distinguished men in this country don't seem to know that no one man can know it all and do it all.

Many a god woman would buy several bottles of most anything if it would only make a new man of the old man.

The Republicans who advocate the annexation of Mexico overlook the fact that it would become a part of the Solid South.

Colonel Roosevelt still denounces pussy-footers, but his son-in-law, the Hon. Nick Longworth, still shows no signs of taking personal offense.

A Georgia editor claims that he is an heir to the late Mrs. Hettie Green, but he can find out what his claims amount to by trying to borrow money on them from a Georgia bank.

A New England man whose wife tried to give him poison told the court that it was impossible for him to live with her. We infer that is why she tried poison on him.

A New Jersey woman says her husband is great on protecting American industries that do not belong to him, but does not stay at home enough to afford protection to his own family.

History has been made while we have been looking on during the past two years, but a hundred years from now people will understand the truth about it better than we can possibly do at this time.

The Gaffney(S. C.) Ledger envies a man who possesses "a wife, some kids, a good home, a cat, a peacock, a car and a million plunks." So far as we are concerned, we could put up with everythings he has but he could keep the cat and peacock.

It is now stated that Villa has been attacked by rheumatism and is past going. Lots of Americans could tell him what would cure him, but the probability is that some Mexican already has persuaded him to carry a raw Irish potato in his pocket.

It hasn't been very long since papers and politicians with more partisanship than patriotism were speaking of the number of "notes" passed between Washington and Berlin as a huge joke. The results of these notes already have turned the joke upon Wilson's critics. What does the number of notes matter so long as they served as the means of enabling the President to keep this country out of war and at the same time bring other nations to recognize and concede our national rights—to maintain peace with honor?

THE SOUTH TAXING THE NORTH!

Representative Fordney, Michigan Republican, strenuously opposed the sur-tax on incomes provided for in the new revenue bill pending in Congress. He declared it was a burden which the South is placing upon the North, and in support of his contentions he said:

"The twelve Southern states which control the Democratic house caucus have 27 per cent of the country's population, but pay only 6.4 per cent of the income tax."

Mr. Fordney ought to know that the South only wishes that this question of income tax could be reversed and that the balance of the country had only 6.4 per cent to pay. The South would like to have those Northern incomes and would gladly pay the tax on them. If Mr. Fordney can bring about a redistribution of wealth, the South will gladly let him shift the burden off on it. The South could stand it awhile and would not have a thing to say. However, the Jacksonville Times-Union reminds Mr. Fordney of the fact that the South itself knows what it is to be burdened with a tax for the benefit of the manufacturers of the North. Says that paper:

"We have always had a fondness for statistics and we wish Mr. Fordney would give us more. The tariff offers him a fine field. He might get up figures to show how large a per cent of the tariff the people of the South pay, and how much they get out of it. Under Republican control the tariff cost the people of this country fully two billion dollars a year and about seventeen hundred million of what it cost went back into the pockets of some of the people. Only little over three hundred million a year ever found its way into the treasury.

"The North is largely a manufacturing section and has gotten back a vast amount of money that was taken from the whole people through tariff legislation. The South being almost entirely agricultural and unprotected has paid its share and gotten back little. Even Mr. Fordney will admit if he is at all candid that the other sections of the Union, taken as a whole, have received three or four times as much of the funds distributed among the protected classes as the South has received.

"The tariff is a tax levied on consumption and therefore it is not very far from a per capita tax. The rich do not consume as much more than the poor as their wealth exceeds that of the poor. Of the two billion taken from the people through the tariff the Southern states to which Mr. Fordney refers probably pay four hundred million and the balance of the Union probably sixteen hundred million. But of the seventeen hundred million collected through the tariff and divided among the favored classes the states he named do not receive more than $170,000,000 while the balance of the Union receives back as much as 1,530,000,000. This leaves a net loss to the Southern states through the tariff of $230,000,000, while the net loss to the balance of the Union is only $70,000,000. So we see that in its net results these Southern states pay over 70 per cent of the tariff cost of the government while having only 27 per cent of the population of the country. The discrimination against them made by the tariff is sufficient to pay the entire income tax of the whole country twice over. Mr. Fordney himself as a protected manufacturer has never paid a dollar to the support of the United States without getting back three. Instead of helping to support the government it has enriched him."

With the preponderance of the protected industries in the North, Mr. Fordney doubtless will recognize how inequitable a tariff tax is, many times more burdensome on the South and West than on the North. In fact, the North makes a stack of money out of the tariff and that accounts for the fact that the proportion of wealth and incomes is so much greater at the North than in the South and the West. The North ought to be glad that it has had plenty of tariff money to offset its income tax.

Nevertheless, notwithstanding, the difference between a tariff tax and an income tax is that the tariff burden is on the masses of the people for the benefit of American industries, while the income tax is solely for the benefit of the American government—the people's government—the North's and the South's government. The South does not get the benefit, but is only interested in seeing that wealth, wherever it may be, shall pay its just proportion for the maintenance of the government.

TWO PACKING HOUSES FOR SOUTH CAROLINA.

Under the vigorous campaign conducted by the agricultural department of South Carolina, that state is to have two meat packing houses—one at Orangeburg and the other at Greenville. The Orangeburg Packing House Company has organized, raised the capital stock and will select a location for the plant this week. The company expects to be ready for business by October.

The Greenville News has been conducting an effective campaign for a packing house and has presented irresistible arguments in behalf of such an enterprise. The business men took hold of the proposition with enthusiasm and The News states that the work of securing subscriptions to the capital stock goes steadily on. The business men head a subscription list themselves and then go to work as solicitors among other business men.

The adaptabilities of the South for raising beef cattle, hogs, sheep and other meat animals have been strongly presented by the Federal and state agricultural departments, and not only the department experts but the farmers themselves know that hogs can be raised from one to two cents cheaper in the South than in the West. That is especially true in Eastern North Carolina, and it holds good throughout the South.

The Greenville paper prints the names of many business men who have taken stock in the packing house there, among them being Mr. J. W. Norwood, former Wilmington banker, and Maj. W. F. Robertson, a former Wilmingtonian who is now secretary of the Greenville chamber of commerce. With reference to the packing house movement there, The News notes the remarkably strong public sentiment for it and says "the knocker of this proposition is yet to show up."

The Orangeburg Packing House Company organized and raised all its capital stock in four weeks and Greenville is endeavoring to beat that splendid record.

THE SOUTH ROBBING ITSELF.

The Manufacturers Record points out a notable instance in which the South is permitting itself to be robbed of raw material of priceless value. The Star on several occasions has deplored the fact that we permit other countries to utilize our richest materials while we are content to export them. We are sending away to European dairying countries the richest cattle feed in the world, and Wilmington has figured notably in such exports, such as the Savannah Press boasts of in this particular:

"Probably one of the largest shipments ever forwarded by one firm from one port is being sent by the Humphreys-Godwin Company of Memphis in seven ocean vessels now loading in Savannah for Scandinavian ports. The seven vessels are the Silkeborg, Alf, London, General Palermarsk, Iris and Waldimersawin. Their cargoes will be solid oilcakes of cattle feed. The value of the entire cargo, it was stated by Mr. H. B. McCoy, agent of the company here, will be a little over a million dollars. In the shipmnet of this oil all British maritime regulations have been complied with, and cargoes will be consigned to Scandinavian ports and will be consumed in Scandinavian countries only. Of the seven vessels the first three have already reached Savannah and have been loaded. The others are due now."

Commercially the above may be gratifying, but it is deplorable from an industrial point of view. Therefore, the Manufacturers Record thus reprpaches us:

"Seven steamship loads of splendid cattle feed going to Europe from one port, while the South buys millions of dollars' worth of meats and dairy products from the North and the West! The South robs the soil and ships the raw material—for oilcake is a raw material for cattle raising—instead of raising cattle to enrich its soil and supply the demand for meats."

The South's cottonseed oil by-products ought to make it the greatest dairying, creamery and livestock country in the world. In this particular there is one of the chief factors in the South's adaptability for raising livestock and producing beef, mutton, pork, butter and cheese.

THE FOREIGN POLICY ISSUE

Up to the present time Mr. Hughes has talked as if he regarded the foreign policy of the Wilson administration as the principal issue of the campaign, but probably by the end of the week we shall know all the lines upon which he stakes his chances for the presidency. Ht will state his position at great length in his formal acceptance of the nomination, of which he is to receive official notification in New York City on next Saturday.

The Democracy has nothing to fear so far as its record goes. Casting aside all differences as to the administration's foreign policy, the Democracy's long suit is its domestic policy. It can base its strongest claims upon the domestic reforms that it has achieved for the American people. Much more has been accomplished for the people than could possibly have been accomplished through any kind of foreign policy, whether Wilson's actual or Hughes' imaginary policy.

However, the Democratic party can stand by the administration's foreign policy for the reason that up to this hour the chief part of ehat policy has been a triumph for the administration. Nobody can dispute the fact that through diplomacy the Wilson administration has brought the German government to an agreement to its contentions as to submarine warfare. The other way to have accomplished that purpose would have been by force, so the American people can be their own judges as to whether they prefer the diplomacy that has actually succeeded or the other way that might never have accomplished the purpose without a long and costly war. How else could the result have been obtained?

As to the administration's Mexican policy, it is yet in a fair way to succeed, with the chances very strong in its favor at the present time. We can't see how Mr. Hughes can make a thing out of his foreign policy issue, and when it comes to domestic reforms the Democratic party ought to be able to sweep the country and be sent back to Washington to go on with its good work for the people.

On next Saturday the Republican committee will notify the Hon. Charles E Hughes of his nomination at Chicago. Mr. Hughes heard about it some time ago, but he won't tell the committee that it is mighty late for it to come sneaking around under the impression that it can tell him the news, as if he hadn't read a newspaper in over a month. The fact is, the committee has given him plenty of time to frame up some sort of excuse for running for president and to get himself in tune with Colonel Roosevelt. Mr. Hughes already has intimated in previous remarks that the Chicago convention picked out a nominee who modestly regards himself as an "out and out American" and especially as a man who thinks he is the American Solomon of the times.

Colonel Roosevelt declared that he was "out of politics," and the newspaper men believed him. He was out of his kind of politics but after resting up a few days he took dinner with Mr. Hughes and accepted some of the Republican candidate's policies. Most any kind of politics suits the sage of Oyster Bay.

CURRENT COMMENT.

For several years Mr. Roosevelt devoted his valuable time to speechmaking in favor of early marriages and large families. Then for a season he was all for war—war with Mexico, war with Germany, war with Turkey, war with Japan, war with everybody, and to make his belligerency more impressive he advocated universal service and conscription. Now that there is friction with Mexico, we regret to report that the Colonel denounces as an "outrage" the ordering of married men in the National Guard to the Rio Grande. Is this ferocious person really in favor of war, or is he a pacifist and quitter?—New York World.

Among the evidences of ruin of the country by the incompetence of the Democrats, The Philadelphia Record cites the fact that during the past quarter, "seventeen cotton mills in New Bedford and Fall river paid increased or extra dividends. These cotton mills are not engaged in producing munitions. They are not even making blankets and uniforms for soldiers. The influence of the war on their business has been slight and indirect. But the average dividend of all the mills in the two cities was 2.11 per cent., the highest rate for a quarter in several years." And that is but a bagatelle by the side of the record the majority of the cotton mills in the South are making and these mills are not dependent, either, on war orders. The calamity howl is not going to work this year for the Republicans. It is one of the worst "off-years" they have ever experienced. —Charlotte Observer.

Says the Newberry Herald and News: "The State campaign is moving along slowly but without much enthusiasm and yet strange to say the crowds at practically all the meetings have been rather unusually large. We hope it means the people are thinking and that means that they will do their own voting and refuse to be led about by factional strife." To which pious wish we echo a most hearty Amen. But, speaking of factional strife, when, we would like to ask, has there been less factionalism in South Carolina than at the present time? Certainly not in recent years. Contrast the condition of affairs which exists today with what existed at the same stage of the campaign two years ago or four years ago and consider what a change has been wrought. The outstanding feature of the political situation in South Carolina now is the absence of bitterness. Let us hope that it will be long before the angry passions blaze again.—Charleston News and Courier.

RESOLUTIONS AND LETTER ARE SENT TO GOVERNOR LOCKE CRAIG

Iredell Meares, Esq., Enters Further Protest Against Having Militia.

Iredell Meares, Esq., who was chosen chairman of the mass meeting of labor leaders and other citizens on Saturday night in Wilmington, yesterday forwarded by mail to Governor Locke Craig a copy of the resolutions of protest against the presence of the State militia in Wilmington, adopted at the meeting Saturday night and also sent a letter, setting forth more fully his views of the situation. Following is a copy of Mr. Meares' letter to the Governor:

"July 10, 1916.

"To His Excellency, the Governor of North Carolina, Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Sir:—I wired you on Saturday night a series of resolutions passed at a large mass meeting protesting against the presence of State troops in this city as unnecessary, either in the first instance or at present. On Sunday morning I received notification from the telegraph company that there was no one present at Raleigh to receive the telegram officially, that you were absent at Asheville and had left no instructions for the transmission of messages. I presume that the message has been officially received today, but I nevertheless enclose you a copy of the resolutions, which explain themselves, as set forth in the newspaper reports of both the 'Star' and the 'Dispatch.'

"I believe that I express the consensus of the opinion of 90 per cent of the people of this city in saying that there never was any necessity of these troops having been sent here and there is no necessity of them remaining here. The Mayor of the city was not consulted by those who induced your action. Neither he nor the chief of police, as they inform me, knew of their coming until announced in the paper. There has been no rioting or threats of rioting, no assaults nor threats of assault, and no set of men, as is universally conceded, behaved more orderly than did the strikers themselves. The labor organizations of this city circulated handbills requesting the public to observe the strictest order. The few incidences of the violation of the law were admittedly not by members of labor organizations and were no greater than might have happened on any occasion where crowds were assembled and were promptly repressed. The strike, happening on the Fourth of July, when the car service to the Beach was interrupted, caused large crowds to assemble on the streets, but it was generally remarked that it was a good humored crowd both then and on the following days. The sheriff swore in deputies as a precautionary measure, but they have had little to do except to ride on the cars. I think the commanding officers of these troops will concede they have had nothing to do since their arrival and they have found no condition whatever of lawlessness in the community.

"For these reasons there has been a very decided feeling in this community that the men who induced your action in ordering the troops here, however sincere, misunderstood the situation and the temper of our people, and the community does not think it ought to be subjected to the imputation that it cannot control the order of the city and to the expense of five or six thousand dollars that the county will have to bear because of these troops being sent here.

"As chairman of the meeting in question, I submit these views and the resolutions by request of the meeting. I beg to remain, with respect,

"Yours truly,

"IREDELL MEARES."

Kinston, N. C., July 10.—Juvenile autoists are to be arrested and tried in police court here beginning today, except in cases where parents take the responsibility. The police, under instructions from the council, set out to enforce the state law against persons under 16 years of age driving cars. No arrests have been made yet. Small boys in big touring cars have been responsible for a number of near accidents recently, according to the authorities.

OPERATION OF CARS.

To the Editor of The Star:

I cannot help but express my amusement at an article in today's Star, telling of what an awful catastrophe that could have happened on a "one-man" Carolina car, if it had only happened, all caused by an awkward move on the part of the motorman and "mismanagement" of Mr. Hugh MacRae. It almost makes me shudder when I picture a crowded jitney coming down Front street and the chauffeur becomes suddenly ill, (only one chauffeur) the "jit" plunges into Woodall & Sheppard's drug store, just picture the loss of life and property, but that and the car incident hasn't happened. I am almost persuaded to put two man to plowing one mule and if the mule should happen to kick one, I would still have another to take his place, though the kicking might not happen in fifty years.

Mr. MacRae's "mismanagement" has resulted in our getting several thousand acres of land on our tax books at $30 to $50 per acre that were listed ten years ago at 50 cents and $1.00. We folks, up here in Pender, want our county full of just such men and extend to him an everlasting invitation to come and live with us.

NEGRO HOMICIDE IN WAYNE.

One Colored Man Kills Another, in Self Defense, He Claims.

Goldsboro, N. C., July 10.—Two negroes, Ben Farrell and William Howell, engaged on the dredging force at work in Nahunta swamp, got into a row Saturday night at the dredging camp near Pikeville and Howell killed Farrell, shooting him several times as the former advanced on him, so he claims, with a drawn knife. Howell is now in jail here awaiting the results of the inquest that Coroner Stanley is holding at the scene of the killing.

HEALTH IS WEALTH
by John B. Huber, A.M., M.D.

The consumptive is far more a source of danger to his fellow workmen than to his family, especially if his calling be within doors. Cornet.

The Tendency To Cancer.

MANY deaths from this disease occur after forty-five; and most deaths between sixty and sixty-four are due to it.

Whilst consumption destroys humankind mostly from fifteen to fifty, cancer claims the greater number of victims in the afternoon and evening of life. And it is a curious phase of the law of compensation that whilst consumption, the Captain of the Men of Death, destroys mostly the poor, the starved and the exhausted—civilization's submerged strata—cancer on the other hand does the larger part of its gleaning rather among the well-to-do, those who have never felt the stress of want.

Of course it does not always hold true; for, sad to tell, many poor people have cancer; yet this disease has a predilection for the homes of the prosperous. Cancer loves a shining mark—the illustrious, those of great worldly importance, those who have through many active years fairly earned ease with dignity and a serene old age.

Nor is there any disease so insidious as cancer. Therefore let the man past forty, with cancer on both sides, in the family history, who notices any inflammation in the mouth or whose indigestions are not easily relieved, or who has persistent abdominal pains; or the woman whose functions natural to her sex seem abnormal—let such sufferers frequently consult advisers of tried skill and reputation in their communities.

Cancer should not be a hopeless, incurable disease. Most cases are remediable if attended to in the beginning. Practically all cases end in death if let alone. The only cure for most cases is the removal by surgical operation of every trace of the disease. Cancer always begins locally; and the cure depends on the original focus, by the knife and under a blessed anesthetic. Early diagnosis is therefore of the greatest importance.

GRINDING THE TEETH.

L. G. W. writes: My little boy, five years old, grinds his teeth every night in spite of all that I have tried to conquer same. The past couple of months his three-year-old brother also does this. They have had little or no candy, and never food between meals. I fear the rare meats I have fed them are the cause of worms. I have read that salt water injections are good and I am using them. Do you think this will in time effect a cure?

Answer: Gritting or grinding the teeth in children is popularly supposed to indicate worms. The trouble, however, is usually due to some disorder of the stomach or intestines apart from worms. It also occurs in neurotic children who sleep uneasily. You are right to give them no candy. The rare meats you mention have probably not caused worms (this could be tested by examining the stools); rather more likely they have made your children excessively nervous. Salt water injections (a teaspoonful to a pint of warm water) are good for infants and little children. But you had better not continue them for your boys. Give them occasionally a good old-fashioned dose of castor oil, or rhubarb and soda. I fear, from your letter, that your boys are in danger of growing up mollycoddles. Have them much in the open air, playing a plenty.

GREEN WALLPAPER.

Answer to H. B. L.: The cheaper grades of green wallpaper are objectionable because the color in them is frequently made of compound of arsenic and copper. The alternate action of dampness and heat disintegrates the surface of the paper, the particles are rubbed or blown from the walls and fill the air. In such manner has acute arsenical poisoning not infrequently been occasioned.

SIGNS OF DEATH.

Answer to M. J.: The signs of death are: The complete and permanent stoppage of circulation and breathing, rigor mortis (the death stiffness), loss of body heat, pallor of the body and—absolutely positive—putrefaction.

COUNCIL ENDORSES CARR FOR POSITION

Of United States District Attorney for Eastern District.

Councilman Jones Urges Need of Street Improvement in First Ward at Weekly Session—Need of Apparatus Suggested.

Resolutions endorsing the efforts that are being made to obtain the appointment of J. O. Carr, Esq., as Unite dStates District Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina were unanimously adopted by City Council at its regular weekly session last night. The resolutions were drawn up at the suggestion of Mayor P. Q. Moore by City Attorney Robert Rurark and introduced by Councilman J. M. Hall.

In seconding the motion to adopt the resolutions, Councilman W. F. Jones stated that it gave him great pleasure to vote for them because he felt that Mr. Carr is eminently fitted for District Attorney and while he had been opposed by the latter on many public questions, he desired to express his approval because of the evident merit of Mr. Carr for the position, for which has been recommended.

The meeting last night was the first to be held at night during the present summer, this time being selected because of greater convenience to the general public. The weekly sessions will continue to be held on Monday nights for the remainder of the summer. All the members of Council were present except Councilman McCaig, who is out of the city, and Mayor Moore presided.

The question of street improvements wae again discussed and Councilman Bradshaw stated that ten carloads of gravel had recently been received and was being used in the improvement of Sixth street, which has long been in need of repairs.

Councilman Jones wanted to know when the work of improving Fifth avenue, north of Brunswick, and Third street, north of Hanover, would be undertaken and was informed by Councilman Bradshaw that it would be reached as soon as possible. Councilman Jones called attention to the fact that this work was authorized two months ago and that nothing had yet been done. He also called attention to the fact that no street improvements had been made in the First Ward this year and that the condition of some of the streets was such as to make it imperative. He felt that as a matter of courtesy to him and the people represented by him that they should be accorded the same treatment as in other wards. Councilman Bradshaw said that the recent heavy rains had done so much damage to the streets that it had made it impossible to do all the work at the present time that is needed.

The traffic ordinances adopted at the last meeting were amended to the extent that the parking of automobiles on North Front street will be prohibited only as far north as Chestnut street instead of Grace street as was first axed. Speed limit for automobiles in the city was fixed at 15 miles instead of 20 miles as the State law makes speed in excess of 15 miles unlawful.

J. C. King, Esq., appeared before Council with reference to securing restaurant licenses for several persons, one being at No. 602 Nixon street, another at No. 305 North Front street and another at Eleventh and Market streets. Mr. King was assured that the licenses would be granted, if the laws were complied with in all respects.

Mr. O. W. Messick asked to be relieved of the payment of what he considered an unreasonable license tax for keeping open an office in Wilmington for conducting a wholesale lumber business. Mr. Messick said he had moved to Wilmington in order to have the advantage of the schools and while he wanted to pay his proportion of the taxes, felt that inasmuch as the mills controlled by him were outside of the city, he should not be required to pay as much tax as those that conducted their business altogether in the city. His request was referred to Councilman McCaig.

The need of an improved chlorine apparatus at the city waterworks plant was pointed out by City Chemist George F. Catlett, who recommended that equipment costing $600 be purchased by the city. In exchanging the present apparatus, which he said had become antiquated, an allowance of $200 would be made, making the net cost $400. Mr. W. E. Merritt, superintendent of the waterworks department, stated that a new pump and engine was needed which would cost the city net $165. Both these recommendations were referred to the Finance committee.

Following are the resolutions endorsing Mr. Carr for U. S. District Attorney:

"Whereas ,a vacancy exists in the office of the United States District Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina, and many of our citizens have endorsed and are favoring the appointment of J. O. Carr, Esq., of this city;

"And whereas, this Council is interested that one of its citizens, in all respects qualified, may be appointed to this important office:

"Therefore, be it resolved, by the Council of the City of Wilmington, that this Council endorses the efforts which are being made to obtain the appointment of J. O. Carr, Esq., as United States District Atorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina, and respectfully requests the Senators and Representatives in Congress from North Carolina to use their best efforts in this behalf.

"Resolved, further, That the City Clerk and Treasurer be and is hereby directed to certify under the seal of the city, and forward by mail to the two Senators from North Carolina true copies hereof."

A letter from Mrs. W. M. Creasy was read explaining the need for two more tennis courts at the Robert Strange playgrounds and also suggesting that it would be well to provide some swings, giant strides and other playground equipment for the smaller children. This request was referred to Councilman Bradshaw and City Engineer David L. Struthers. Mrs. Creasy's letter follows:

"Since our last conversation I have carefully observed the tennis court on the playground to see if the patronage would justify the Council in having additional courts constructed. Unquestionably two or more courts should be built at once.

"From the first the court has been well patronized. Each day from 5:30 until 9:30 a. m. and from 5 to 8 p. m. the court is in continuous use. Yesterday and today they came for the net at 5 a. m. So keen is the interest that those who wish to use the court have to take it by turns. Generally there are enough for three or more sets awaiting their turn.

"The baseball diamond is also an unqualified success. In fact both of them are. The smaller one, is in continuous use from early morning until sunset. Not even the blazing noonday sun is able to drive the boys away. One of them was heard to say, 'Whoops, I am so sore I can hardly more, byt throw the ball.' The larger diamond is also in great demand, and the number of young people among the spectators is large. At no time has the daily patronage been under 200, and sometimes it has greatly exceeded that number.

"Do you think it will be possible to get our Council to install at least two swings, a giant stride, teeter-board and a Maypole. The large and small boys have something and also the larger girls. Now if we could only get this much for the smaller girls and boys, we could then feel that our town is looking out for its citizens in giving them their share of God's sunshine and outdoors, untainted and unpolluted by sin.

"Yours sincerely,
"MRS GERTRUDE BAGBY CREASY."
CREASY."

PROBE CONGLETON DEATH

Coroner's Jury Investigating Matter Hears Testimony of Several Witnesses and Case is Continued.

The coroner's jury which is investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. George B. Congleton, who was run over and killed by A. C. L. yard engine No. 118 at the Ninth street crossing near Brunswick street about 8:30 o'clock Sunday night, examined five witnesses yesterday but none of them could explain how the deceased happened to be on the track at the time. Morning and afternoon sessions were held and a continuance of the hearing will be conducted at the county Court House this morning, when additional witnesses will be examined.

Coroner A. S. Holden assembled a jury to hear the evidence in the case, which is composed of Messrs. P. B. Bell, Julian Taylor, H. H. Harrison, D. K. LeGwin, O. H. Shoemaker and Capt. W. A. Sanders. County Solicitor George L. Peschau conducted the examination of the witnesses, and Court Stenographer L. L. Motte is transcribing the testimony in the case.

Examined by Solicitor Peschau, Engineer F. A. Hudler testified that with his helper, Young Montgomery, colored, about 8:15 o'clock Sunday night he took yard engine No. 118 from the passenger station on Third street and was going out to the coal chute on the "Y" track in order to turn it around and bring it back to the roundhouse. That when the railroad crossing at Ninth street near Brunswick street was reached, he switched the engine over to the main freight line of the W. C. & A. After this was done, Engineer Hudler testified that about 100 yards northeast of the Ninth street crossing he felt something like a brake bar had dropped beneath the tank of the engine, and that he put on his brakes and came to a stop.

The witness next told of finding Mr. Congleton's body and reporting the same to his superiors. He testified that he never saw anybody on the track ahead of the engine before or after the accident, although he was maintaining a lookout. He also testified that he didn't know whether the headlight on the engine was burning or not but he was sure that the red lanterns at the front and rear were burning.

Young Montgomery, colored helper on the engine, testified that both he and Mr. Hudler were keeping a lookout ahead of the engine; that he didn't see Mr. Congleton and didn't know that anyone had been struck until the jar was felt under the tank. He testified that the engine was making about four miles an hour and at the time of the accident was going around a curve. He testified that oil lights were used on yard engines in the headlights and that if it was burning, it was burning dimly. He added that he was certain the red lights at the front and rear of the engine were burning. He testified that at the time of the accident it was very dark at the Ninth street crossing.

Mr. E. B. Tharp, a brother-in-law of the deceased, identified the body at the morning session, and Mr. E. Fonveille, another witness testified as to the location of the body when found.

Coroner A. S. Holden and the jury assembled by him viewed the remains at the James Walker Memorial Hospital yesterday morning, following which the coroner gave permission for the removal of the body to Mr. W. E. Yopp's undertaking establishment and also for its shipment to Beaufort. It was sent on the 3:25 P. M. train for that place yesterday afternoon. The pall-bearers to the train were Messrs. A. D. Cashwell, J. R. Hill, J. A. Kelly, Hardy Lanier, J. P. Brinson and John Lanier.

The deceased is survived besides his parents by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Fannie Maon, Mr. Ida Tharp, Misses Lottie, Beatrice and Sallie Congleton and Mr. Luther Congleton.

ROBERT W. MEEKS DEAD

Esteemed Young Wilmingtonian Succumbs to Operation—Funeral.

Many Wilmington friends will learn with much sorrow of the death of Mr. Robert W. Meeks, for the past twelve years a resident of Wilmington and one of its most highly esteemed young men, the end having come yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at the James Walker Memorial Hospital where he had just undergone an operation that it was hoped might restore him to his normal health after a suffering for several years but an immediate illness only during the past five weeks.

Robert W. Meeks was a son of the late Rev. O. P. Meeks and of Mrs. Meeks. He was born in New York state, but had lived in Wilmington the past 12 years, having first come to this city to take a position in the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line. Later he took a position in the offices of the Tidewater Power Co., here and was still in the service of that company when overtaken by his last illness. He was a devoted member of the First Baptist church and possessed many of those sterling qualities which made his life most exemplary. He was held in the very highest esteem by his employers and by many friends whom he met in a social way.

Mr. Meeks is survived by his wife, who was Miss Kate Manning, a daughter of the late Capt. E. W. Manning, of Wilmington; also his mother and several sisters and brothers, one of whom, Mr. B. S. Meeks, traveling freight agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, at Florence, S. C., arrived with his wife shortly before the death.

The funeral of Mr. Meeks will take place from the residence at 112 Ann street this afternoon at 5 o'clock and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

The colored boys were arrested early yesterday morning by Officer J. O. Bullard on warrants sworn out by Officer W. H. Kermon, who worked up the case against them in which they stand charged with breaking and entering the residence of Mr. W. H. Northrop, Jr., No. 1617 Market street, during the afternoon of July 6.

AUTO WENT ON RAMPAGE.

Beyond Control of Driver, Mr. Merritt's Car Runs Amuck.

Going south towards Princess, the handsome new eight-cylinder Oldsmobile touring car of Mr. R. C. Merritt got beyond control of the owner who was driving, at Second and Chestnut streets, early last night, about 8 o'clock, and before it "took up" it had ridden up on the sidewalk and into the edge of the Postoffice park, plunging head-on at last into one of the large concrete pillars at the Second street entrance to the park. Mrs. Merritt, who was on the front seat with her husband, was slightly cut about the face by a piece of broken windshield when the car struck the pillar, but their little daughter who was on the rear seat was uninjured. The car was damaged to the extent of $40 or $50.

Mr. Merritt was driving south on Second street and had started to turn to the right side of the street going to the garage when he lost control of the steering apparatus in some way and in attempting to get his foot on the brake, there was a slip in some way and he came down on the accelerator, throwing the car ahead full speed and with all the power of the eight cylinders of his engine. That the accident was not more serious was the subject of congratulations from the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt last night.

MR. W. W. ROBERTS DEAD

Passed Away Suddenly Yesterday in Jacksonville, Fla.—Funeral Today.

The sad news was received here yesterday by members of his family that Mr. W. W. Roberts, formerly of Wilmington, had died suddenly yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in Jacksonville, Fla., where he had been making his headquarters for the last ten years. Mr. Roberts was well known in Wilmington and had a great many friends here. He was a nephew of the late David G. Worth and was related to many Wilmington families. He was 53 years old.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, Mrs. Mary Dudley Roberts, and two sons, Messrs. David Worth and William Worth Roberts, all of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Haywood D. White, of Raleigh. To Run Moonlight Excursion.

The Floating Christian Endeavor Society will run a moonlight excursion on Tuesday night, July 18th, on the steamer Wilmington which will leave her wharf at the foot of Princess street at 8.15 o'clock. This society is sustained almost entirely by its own enterprise and the public is cordially invited to enjoy the trip down the Cape Fear and at the same time aid in the mission work among the seamen. Refreshments will be served on the boat and there will also be music.

Fruit Gardens in the City.

That the city of Wilmington has some very fine fruit gardens is evinced by the fact that The Star was yesterday the recipient of one of the largest, juiciest and prettiest peaches ever seen here. It was grown by Mrs. C. F. Bell in her yard, at No. 118 Church street, she is indeed much repaid for her trouble in planting and caring for the trees.

EVERYBODY IN WILMINGTON IS ON THE WATER WAGON.

Mayor Moore Has Not Yet Released the Ban on Importation of Drinks.

Everybody in Wilmington is on the water wagon, not figuratively but very literally for the ban on the importation of intoxicants which was declared Saturday by Mayor P. Q. Moore is still in force and will remain, the city's chief executive states, until such time as it is considered wise to allow the receiving of the quarts that are in much demand in some quarters. The Mayor took this precaution in order to make sure that whiskey should not be responsible for any disorder in the city.

The order applies to the railroad and express offices and the Clyde Line Steamship Company Of course, if a man should exercise the foresight to slip a quart into his grip, if he happened to be in a "wet" city, he can bring it in that way.

HEARS MANDAMUS ARGUMENT.

Judge Bond Reserves Decision in Wake Democratic Fight.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 10.—Judge W. M. Bond heard argument for and against the petition for a mandamus this afternoon to compel the Wake county board of elections to place the name of Kemp B. Johnson on the Democratic legislative ticket for the November election instead of putting on the name of B. H. Pate under a ruling of the State Board of Elections.

The judge reserved his ruling to investigate as to any facts that might require a jury trial, which is claimed by Pate's counsel. If he rules for a jury, the case will be tried on the first Monday in September and if he finds no facts requiring jury verdict an order disposing of the case will be made at once so that appeal can be perfected to the Supreme Court. On the outcome depends the control of Wake county legislation as between the Jones and the Bailey wings on county Democratic politics. J. S. Manning and James H. Pou appeared for Johnson and Douglas for Pate.

being reported in some places. Residents of Coosa county and Chilton county are threatened with a food famine, and cattle are being rapidly killed to meet the pressing demand for food.

Geneva county is suffering from the overflow of the Choctowhatchie river. The principal business street of the town of Geneva is under five feet of water. Inhabitants of about 60 dwellings have been forced to abandon them and boats have been busy all day rescuing people from the tree tops. Two negroes were drowned. It is estimated that more than 300 are homeless.

Conditions along the Cahaba river are said to be serious. Relief trains were sent out of Selma Monday carrying food and clothing to the hundreds of homeless of that section. At Selma the Alabama river is two miles wide and the water threatens to put the electric light plant out of operation at any minute.

Around the Cahaba district there is reported to be heavy loss of live stock as well as total loss of cotton and corn. The boll weevil only thrives under the present conditions.

FEAR THAT TEN MISSING SCHOONERS HAVE BEEN LOST.

Biloxi, Miss., July 10.—Ten schooners tonight were announced as missing and fear that they were foundered or wrecked during the tropical hurricane of Wednesday and Thursday increased hourly. A total of 55 men comprised the crews of the vessels. Advices tonight told of the finding on Long Beach today of the schooner Cambria previously reported missing. The vessel was dismantled and beached high and dry. The body of Ramon Reyes, who drifted out to sea with the Cambria has not been recovered.

Relief boats searched the passes and smaller bays around Ship Island today and tonight but found only bits of unmarked wreckage.

NINE BODIES WASHED ASHORE NEAR MOBILE; STORM VICTIMS

Mobile, La., July 10. — The death toll from last week's hurricane, which swept over this section stood at nine tonight, all of the dead apparently being sailors, whose bodies were washed ashore near here. One body was identified as that of Captain Kelly, of the 300 ton American schooner Emma S. Lord, believed to have foundered off the entrance to Mobile bay. Other bodies have not been identified. More than 20 men are missing from small craft, believed to have been wrecked.

From along the coast come fragmentary reports of houses damaged and small vessels still missing, but so far as was known tonight no lives were lost on shore in this vicinity.

The schooner Laguna, 328 tons, was reported ashore near here. The three-masted American schooner Mary G. Dantzler, owned in Mobile, is aground off the Louisiana shore. The schooner Albert D. Mills is reported ashore south of Fort Morgan.

Passenger traffic on the Mobile & Ohio, between here and Birmingham, was resumed tonight, for the first time since Wednesday. All other railroad schedules have been at least partially restored.

War News at a Glance

The French in their operations south of the Somme have advanced to within about a mile of Peronne, at present held strongly by the Germans. They have occupied the summit known as Hill 97, which commands the Sommé to the southeast of Biaches and have strengthened their positions between the British and the Germans at Trones wood, against which the Germans launched six separate attacks. Five were repulsed, according to the British war office, but the sixth permitted the Germans to penetrate the wood, where latest reports said the fighting continued. British troops made some gains in the neighborhood of Ovillers and LaBoiselle and in a particularly powerful attack on the German positions in the Mammethe wood succeeded in winning some ground where previously the resistance has been too strong to break.

Still Pounding Heavily.

The forces of the German crown prince are still pounding heavily against the French positions at Froide Terre, Fleury and the Fumin wood in the Verdun sector but the actions appear to have been confined to bombardments.

There has apparently been no halt of the Russian advance toward Kovel in Volhynia. The German defenses along the Stokhod river have been unable to stay the progress of the Russians, who have crossed the river at various points. The latest communication from Russian general headquarters shows that the two opposing armies are in the midst of a terrific struggle, for it mentions that "the enemy rallied and made desperate efforts to maintain his positions on the left bank of the river."

Along this line the battle is still in progress.

In the Dvina sector and east of Baranovichi the Germans have delivered strong counter attacks and are undertaking extensive offensive operations.

Furious on Italian Front.

The fighting between the Italians and Austrians continues with unabated fury, the Austrian official statement describing the repulse of Alpine forces between the Brenta and the Eysch rivers, more than 800 Italian dead being left before the Austrian trenches.

British forces under General Smuts have occupied Tanga, the second port in important on the coast of German East Africa and the terminus of a German railroad.

TORRENTIAL RAINS FLOOD THE ASHEVILLE SECTION

Asheville, N. C., July 10.—Following a rainfall of three and eighty-hundredths inches since last Friday night, the French Broad river and all local streams have risen above their banks and in some sections of this county serious floods are threatened. At 8 o'clock tonight the French Broad river at this point registered a rise of eight feet and is believed to be still rising. Houses in the cotton mill section and at Biltmore have been flooded to the point of being uninhabitable, and one house at Biltmore has had part of its foundations washed away.

In the northern part of the county it is reported that corn crops have been greatly damaged and two wooden bridges were swept away in the Big Ivey sections.

While several trains on the Asheville-Spartanburg division today have been delayed, no serious accidents to passenger trains have been reported. On the Transylvania division of the Southern railroad, all trains have been annulled, owing to the heavy floods in the French Broad valley. In the Lake Toxaway region crops have been damaged to a great extent according tot reports tonight.

To Ward Off Summer Complexion Ills

To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all summer, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercolized wax. Discolored or freckled skin, so common at this season, is gently absorbed by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, which is applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Greasy creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear more conspicuous than usual these days of excessive perspiration. Just get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream. This will help any skin at once and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably young and healthy.

Sun, winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions, which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every line, however caused, by using a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel.

THEATRICAL

Versatility, ability, her particular adeptness for finished dramatic work and the knack of always being able to grip the emotions of her audiences and sway them at will, have long been associated with Miss Helen Holmes, but until her appearance in "The Girl and the Game" did she fully conquer the millions of movie fans of every civilized band.

Hence the bare announcement that she appears at the Grand today, heading the original Girl and the Game cast in a marvelous railroad drama, "Whispering Smith," by the author of the serial, Frank Hamilton Spearman, a spectacular six-reel production, more thrilling and with more action than "The Girl and the Game" the indications would point to capacity crowds all day long.

ail to catch the spirit of the production and be carried away with it.

Theda Bara—Royal Today.

Theda Bara, the world famous Vampire Woman, who has created the greatest reputation as the portrayer of Vampire roles of any woman who ever appeared in films or on stage, comes to the Royal today in the very greatest Vampire role in which she has ever starred, a marvelous filmization of "Gold and the Woman" in which the talented and superb artiste plays the role of a Mexican adventuress with her usual finished style.

Greater than Carmen—Greater than "The Serpent"—Greater than any past release from the studios of William Fox in which Theda Bara has starred, is the universal opinion of everyone who has seen this stirring film masterpiece, a full six-reel production—six thousand feet of film packed full of sensationalism and startling situations and surprises such as you have never before seen in a photoplay—even from the studios of Fox.

"Gold and the Woman" although it is a high-priced "Special" production, will be presented at the minimum admission scale at the Royal today, the management feeling that no patron of the theatre should miss this sterling production, although, with the constantly climbing salaries of film celebrities such as Miss Bara, it will undoubtedly soon be necessary for exhibitors all over the country to get higher prices for her pictures, the same as has been the case with Charlie Chaplin.

"The Spoilers" Thursday.

When men are big enough and brave enough to go into an unknown country such as Alaska was in 1898 and find their sacrifices to secure a foothold among its primal treasures about to be snatched from them by their perversion of the law in corrupt hands they fight, and fight hard and wickedly. That is the story of "The Spoilers." But Rex Beach could never have reached so straight and true to the sympathies through print or even stage drama as the moving picture of his novel reaches. It is the fullness of a relation in swift presentation, a suspense beyond description maintained and with climatic scees and acts numerous and thrilling. It takes nine reels to tell the story as W. N. Selig has produced it and there are no dull moments for the observer. This marvelous picture is to receive its initial presentation in Wilmington at the Royal theatre Thursday, starring Kathlyn Williams, William Farnum and Wheeler Oakman. It is in nine reels.

Bijou News Weekly.

"Pathe News—Sees all—From Broadway to the Trenches." Hence, in selecting a News Weekly, the Bijou management chose Pathe News over all competitors whose salesman have been in the city recently. Today the Bijou presents the first issue of Pathe News, the real "reel" newspaper—as new as your newspaper." "Pathe News is acknowledged pre-eminent in getting the news in pictorial form. Yesterday they were on hand taking pictures of famous Deutschland at Baltimore which the Bijou will get pretty soon. So if you want to see all the big war news, twice a week in pictures—which cannot lie—don't fail to see Pathe News at the Bijou today. It's the most expensive single reel feature the Bijou has ever booked.

One of the greatest L-Ko's ever filmed is "How Stars Are Made" in two gigantic reels of laughs, also on the bill at the Bijou today starring Alice Howell, Ray Griffith and a big bunch of L-Ko nuts. Alice is ambitious, so the story goes, and wants to be a movie star. She interviews the studio watchman. She sneaks into the star's dressing room and steals a costume. There's a grand carnival in town that day and the tar is to ride on a float as a queen—or something or other. Alice beats her to it and the finish is fast and furious. The street parade is a scream and the finish is typical L-Ko—that means an absolute surprise with the laughing punch that will leave you breathless.

A marvelous single reel version of "The Rosary" is another exceptional feature on today's bill. There is no one who does not know the heart interest story, and this film transports all the pathos and heart throbs onto a single reel of film.

Federal Government Will Not Withdraw from North Carolina.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 10.—State Veterinarian B. B. Flowe announces that he has succeeded in inducing the United States Department of Agriculture to continue its work in co-operation with the State Department of Agriculture in hog cholera prevention that has been carried on so successfully for several years. The Federal department had decided to withdraw from the work to devote its funds to other lines of extension endeavor, but a visit by Dr. Flowe to Washington brought about a change of plans and the Federal government will continue to have Dr. F. D. Owen in this State devoting special attention to the hog cholera work.

ANY CASES IN N. CAROLINA?

Health Authorities Make Inquiry as to Infantile Paralysis.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 10.—The State Department of Health has received from the National Department of Health at Washington urgent request to investigate closely as to the presence of any cases of infantile paralysis in North Carolina. The State Board has on file no report of any case, nor has there been one for a great while. Officers of the department say that while the State law is strict as to requirement that physicians report any such cases that [illegible] they suspect that it is possible that there are cases that have not been reported and are sending to all physicians and local health authorities urgent requests that report be made at once if there are cases anywhere in the State.

RATIONS AT CAMP GLENN UP TO GOVERNMENT STANDARD

Reports That Troops Are Not Properly Fed "All Foolishness."

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, N. C., July 10.—Capt. A. K. Tayloe, a local surgeon in the medical department at Camp Glenn, here on two days' leave, declared that reports that the troops there were not being properly fed were "all foolishness." The rations are up to the government standard, he said. "Of course, those fellows who are looking for ice cream and cake to be served with every meal are bound to be disappointed. But there is plenty of good, wholesome food for all the men and they have no cause for complaint," said Dr. Taylor. Soldiers writing from Camp Glenn state that "sympathizing civilians" were responsible for the rumors, and that their sympathy was badly misplaced. One company in the Second infantry regiment voluntarily prepared a letter refuting the reports. The letter was signed by practically every man in the company.

Helpful Hints for Busy Housewives

EASY WAY TO WASH BLANKETS.

BLANKETS must be washed every summer of course, and often when the time comes to have this work done a great outcry arises in the household at the awful labor involved. The heavy covers can be sent to a laundry for renovation, or to a cleaner's, but in the former case only too often they return with all the fluff gone from them, while in the latter the operation is expensive and not as satisfactory to the fastidious housekeeper as a dousing in the honest if homely washtub. Therefore it would seem that the home's the place! But there are simple ways of washing blankets; methods so easy that the work can be done by the mistress herself if she chooses to attempt it.

For instance, if they are not very soiled the blankets can be soaked for an hour in a tub full of lukewarm water in which a quarter of a pound of borax and some white soap have been dissolved. The bathtub will do admirably for this work.

After the hour they may be removed dripping, and hung on a line in the sunshine without rinsing or wringing. Now take the garden hose and hose them well on both sides. The stream of water that reaches them will serve the double purpose of washing out the soap and of making the blankets fluffy.

This very simple method of procedure robs what seemed a fearful task of all its horrors.

THE PEACOCK THRONE.

A new wicker chair shown for the first time this spring, is painted to represent old ivory, and is of curious shape. The bottom is of the well-known hour-glass form, but the back rises high above the head of its occupant and expands into the shape of a great fan. It looks something like the peacock throne which the Dowager Empress of China once occupied. It is a most attractive article of furniture, but whether or not it would be comfortable is another matter, for the back is very straight and very high and so would probably interfere with stylish coiffures.

TO LENGTHEN THE LIFE OF SCREENS.

Inasmuch as the price of everything has recently been boosted it is not surprising to learn that that of screening wire has advanced tremendously. For the benefit of the householder who cannot afford either the copper or the galvanized wire for making his screens it is suggested that he buy the cheaper black sort and give it a coat of very thin paint on each side, when it will last quite as long as the more expensive kinds.

NEW RUGS ATTRACTIVE.

The new straw rugs are charming things. One seen recently was of black and white checks, with a border of alternate black and white bands. Another had a creamy white center and the border was a broad band of solid blue. A third had a straw-colored center and a border of roses in natural colors. Anyone of these would prettily set off the summer bedroom.

THE YOUNG HOUSEKEEPER SAYS

THAT she commends to the attention of her readers the many cook books which are issued by firms which deal in food products. These firms employ experts in domestic science to edit their pamphlets and consequently valuable and interesting formulas for new dishes are frequently found in them. As a case in point she quotes the following excellent recipe for tuna fish salad recently found in an advertisement for a gelatine. Soak one-half envelope of gelatine in one-fourth cup of cold water for five minutes, then add to three-fourths cup of boiled salad dressing. Cool and add one cup of tuna fish separated into flakes, one-half cup of chopped celery, one-half a green pepper finely chopped, two tablespoonfuls of chopped olives, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, two teaspoonsful of vinegar, and a few grains of cayenne. Turn into six individual moulds which have been dipped in cold water, and chill. When cold remove from moulds and serve on nests of lettuce. Ornament with slices of cucumber and pass mayonnaise with them.

THAT for the aforementioned hot dressing there is no better rule than the following, which is the property of a dear old lady who uses it on slaw, and who, incidentally, makes the best slaw known to man. Beat one egg and to it add three tablespoons of sugar, one teaspoon of mustard, one of flour, one of butter, one of olive oil, three-fourths of a cup of vinegar, three-fourths of a cup of milk, salt, pepper, and celery salt to taste. Put all together in a saucepan on the fire and cook until the dressing is smoking hot and as thick as custard. In making slaw pour this while hot over cabbage that has been cut into fine strips and crisped in cold water.

Another luncheon dish which will be found very appetizing is the following: Boil eggs hard, cut them lengthwise and remove the yolks. Mix with the yolks as many sardines, minced fine, as there are eggs, add salt, and butter to make a paste, form into balls and place in the halves of the whites. Arrange hot boiled rice on a dish, place the eggs on the rice and pour tomato sauce over all.

For the tomato sauce take a cup of tomatoes, salt and pepper to taste, one-half tablespoon of butter and let cook together. Then add one-half tablespoon of corn starch mixed with cold water and thicken the tomatoes with this. Green peppers, onion, pimentos or celery may be added to give flavor.

A nice horse radish sauce to use with oysters or fish is made by adding to one-half cup of drawn butter a fourth of a cup of grated horse radish.

The Porch To the Front Again

It Will Soon Be The Most Comfortable Place In The House, So Furnish It Now.

IT seems incredible that the time has come to talk about the summer porch. And yet it has. A few short weeks and the porch will be the most comfortable, the most sought out, the most important place in the house. Pity that it grows more elaborate every year.

Time was when you were a little afraid to mention a porch to city people for fear that they might have none. There have been children who never even saw a porch until they were full-grown and very wise.

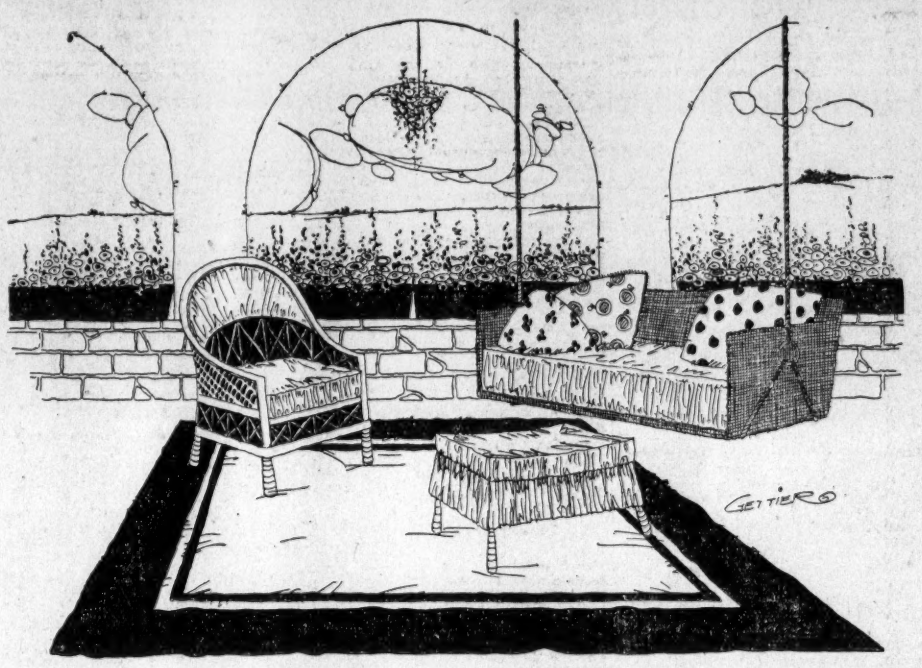
But not so now. Now everyone has a porch. Even the miserable apartment-house dweller in the crowded cities of the east has his. The women said, "let there be porches" and there were.

The porch of today, however, is frequently the breakfast room of last month. The architects are up to a trick or two and what the architects do nowadays is to make a "glass" breakfast room, which, once the glass is removed, becomes a summer porch. Thus are two birds killed with the same stone.

I commend to anyone building a new house the breakfast-room-porch arrangement. Nothing could be prettier; nothing more convenient.

In a house recently built in a beautiful country the breakfast-room has a tiled floor. It has any number of great arched windows. Around these windows are flat arches of green lattice work upon which twine vines which grow in the tubs nearby. The walls of this delectable apartment are hung with trailing plants, there are window boxes at the French doors. Behold it a charming room in winter, and in summer with the windows removed and screens substituted, a delightful porch.

Those who have no such elaborate place in their homes can do much with the most ordinary porch that ever country carpenter built, sans tiles, sans attractive lines, sans expense. The summer porch should be pretty but it must be comfortable. Where beauty and comfort conflict then beauty must go to the wall.



Choose, then, wicker for your porch when it is possible.

It is no time with the thermometer at 90 in the shade to be telling the boys not to put their feet on the hammock, and to keep their hands off the chairs. Better a porch where rest is than a wonderful apartment all full of handsome wicker furniture, which is too good to use.

The porch should have comfortable chairs a-plenty and these should be made of whatever material will best withstand the wear to which they are to be subjected. Wicker is pretty and fairly tough. Only the most outrageous abuse will cause it to succumb.

Choose then, wicker for your porch when it is possible. Paint it some handsome dark shade, green or brown or black, and fit it out with cushions of bright-colored cretonne in which the shops abound this season, for a wicker chair without cushions is about as comfortable to sit on as a skeleton. If last year's hammock is dirty, paint the canvas part of it also. Then cover the soiled mattress with one of the lighter weight awning materials, give it lots of cushions, and you will have an article of which you may be proud.

If there is no hammock buy a chaise-longue of wicker and the family will be well content. Cover it with a long cushion and place near it a tabourette to hold the pipe, the ash-receiver, the sewing basket, or the book of its occupant.

There should be a small bookcase on the porch, a rack for newspapers and magazines, a lamp, a "wing" chair, an hour-glass chair, arm chairs. There should be flat cushions to slip in at tired backs, and foot rests. Heavy mats of plaited straw form substantial and handsome floor coverings.

Flower boxes are as necessary to livable porches as chairs themselves, and a few hanging baskets will add greatly to the artistic effect.

Time was when it was considered that all of the furniture a summer porch needed was a strip of red carpet, as if someone were being married, and two or three hard but substantial rocking chairs. But not so now. Now we will economize on the guest chamber, on the living room, even on the pergola of the summer home, in order to make the porch an inviting and comfortable place for the family and for the stranger within our gates. For it is here that on hot days we enjoy that dolce far niente, that sweet-do-nothing which is the privilege that summer brings with it.

SEASONABLE JOTTINGS

WHITE carnation day!

New wallpapers come in stripes four inches and more broad and are exceedingly striking and sometimes equally attractive.

One seen recently was a combination of blue and gold, dark blue with rich gold, and the effect was excellent.

The separate skirt is with us once again and this season's models are lovelier than any that have gone before. For instance, one of heavy cream-colored silk with broad stripes of pale green.

For instance one of French pique, finely ribbed in soft rose and white.

Taffeta skirts are much worn with separate blouses, and of mohair skirts there is no end. But the latter are as little like the old stiff mohair as anything that can be imagined, being, instead, soft and silky.

All of these skirts are plaited or gathered to give fullness and are ornamented with pockets and pearl buttons.

Some of the new sport coats are things so wondrous that they look as if they might have been part of the trousseau of the Queen of Sheba. Two hundred dollars and more are asked for some sport suits, and these are worn generally by those whose only exercise consists in dressing five times a day.

Skirts of cream-colored satin worn with blouses of crepe de chine or of Georgette crepe, and over all a sport coat of bright color or lined with some bright-tinted satin, will be the prettiest "sports" dressed this summer.

What is said to be the newest coiffure has side curls worn over the ears.

A recently imported frock shows a biscuit-colored jacket worn with a black taffeta skirt.

BETWEEN SOUP AND DESSERT

WHEN engaged to be married, my dear," remarked Edith, "a man may be foolish without being a fool, but he can't be a fool without being foolish. Gracious, I seem to be talking in epigrams!. What I mean is that Roy is acting like a fool—just because he's so foolish about you."

Helen shook her head slowly, hopelessly, and continued to stare at the sugar-bowl. Her luncheon was untasted before her.

"I know what I'm talking about," continued Edith, dividing her attention between her friend across the table and her crab ravigotte. "I've been through the engaged state, and I've been married long enough to be able to look back on it with—with—well, with seeing eyes. Sometimes, my dear"—and there was just a trace of wistfulness in her eyes—"after you and Roy are married you may wish he would act the fool again in this fashion."

"No—no, Edith," said the girl in a voice sepulchral and tragic, "there is no use talking about it—it's all over between us. This—is—the—end!"

"Pass me the mayonnaise, please."

It was passed.

Silence. And a sigh.

"Oh, come, come, my dear, aren't you going to eat anything? Heavens, my child, if you let a little misunderstanding interfere with your appetite you'll starve after you are married! Come, cheer up! Roy's no different from other men."

"I—I—I thought he was,"—slowly, plaintively.

Edith smiled and reached for the red pepper.

"I—I'd like to see how he'd take it if I had gone to lunch with an actor," wailed Helen presently, her tone inviting sympathy.

Again Edith smiled. She had a most distressingly quiet, queer little quirk of a smile; there was something so tantalizing about it. "If you were merely engaged to him when it happened, my dear Helen," she replied, "he'd rave and tear his hair and go after the actor. But if married—"

"He says he wouldn't," interrupted Helen. "He says that if I had gone to lunch with an actor who was an old and sincere and purely a Platonic friend of mine he wouldn't have said a word about it. And he wouldn't have been one bit jealous—wouldn't mind in the least. And he'd even put the actor up at his club just to please me."

Edith chuckled. She simply couldn't help it. "He talks as though you were already married."

But Helen evidently did not hear her remark. She rushed on:

"I told him he was perfectly safe in talking that way, and that he knew it. Furthermore, if I told him that this imaginary actor was an old and Plantonic friend of mine, he wouldn't doubt it for a moment. I've long passed the stage of being smitten with a matinee idol and—and—I never did like actors, anyway!"

"I am not sure," said Edith somewhat brusquely, "that I understand precisely what happened. Just what did Roy do—and how did he offend you?"

Helen reached nervously for her glass of water and swallowed in haste. "There's an actress person, by the name of Genevieve La Tour—Roy says her real name is Mary Riley. And, it seems, he's known her for a long, long time. In fact, my dear Edith, from the way he tells it you'd imagine they'd made mud pies together as children. Well, anyway, he's been sort of a big brother to her for ever so long — never the least bit of sentiment in it, purely Platonic and all that, you know."

"That is quite possible—even probable," said Edith. Then she added, "With a certain type of man."

"Maybe so. But it has been the custom for this La Tour person to take lunch with Roy, ride horseback and play around in general with him every time she's playing in town. I am also informed that she's interested in the Art Gallery and rare old manuscripts at the Public Library; and she dabbles a bit in blank verse and theosophy. Quite a remarkable person for an actress—oh, my, yes!—that's what Roy says!

"Well, yesterday I went into the Brown Betty Inn for luncheon—wishing all the time that Roy could be with me, but knowing how much he always enjoys lunch at his club and feeling that I shouldn't be selfish and ask him to take me to lunch when I was so lonely and—goodness me, where am I? Oh, yes, I walked in and who should I see the very first thing but Roy and this er—a—this Riley person together at a table in the corner. It was the one next to the favorite one at which Roy and I always sit when we lunch there, right next to it—just think of that!"

"A Carmencita Kiss, please," said Edith to the waitress, "and be sure the strawberries are fresh, not preserved. Won't you have something for dessert, Helen? Really, you must eat something."

Helen shook her head. "He didn't seem in the least embarrassed, either," she went on. "But of course he tried to brazen it out! Why, my dear, I thought he was going to introduce her to me and ask me to lunch with them!"

"Did she look like—was she quite impossible?" asked Edith.

"No-o-o." The answer came slowly and unwillingly. "No, I must give her that. In fact, she was very smart and—and—some people might even call her pretty; but I've never admired that type. In justice to her, though, I must say she wasn't a bit flashy. Indeed, I never dreamed she was an actress—in vaudeville, too!—until Roy told me over the 'phone yesterday afternoon. And then I—"

"Did he 'phone you?"

"Oh, no! I called him up late in the afternoon—and told him I'd really have to be excused from seeing him that evening and—"

"And you suggested that he spend it with the girl he had lunched with, eh?" put in Edith, smiling again that slow, derisive smile.

Helen stopped, amazed. "Well, I believe I did say something like that before we had finished talking. But what of it?"

"Oh, nothing, nothing"—again the smile—"at least nothing worth while. Go on with your story, my dear."

"That's all there is to it. He explained all that I've told you and—and—and he just wouldn't admit that he'd been in any way unfair to me, or that his being seen in public with an actress when everyone knows he is engaged to me, would cause any talk or—well he is simply hopeless. If he'd only been sorry and said so. Or even if he had explained that this er—a—this actress person was an unpleasant aftermath of his younger days—before he'd met me—and that he had to take her to lunch and be nice to her for fear of a breach of promise suit or—or something like that, I'd have—"

Edith laughed right out loud. "You—you dear silly little goose!" she exclaimed. "Oh—oh my—I wonder if I was as silly as all that when I was engaged to—I beg your pardon, my dear. Really, I didn't mean that quite the way it sounded."

But Helen was hurt. And tears were trembling on her eyelashes.

"And, it seems, he's known her for a long, long time."

"There, there, dear," consoled Edith. "You mustn't mind an old married woman when something tickles her funny bone."

"Old! That's just what makes me perfectly furious at you at times, Edith! Why, you're only a few years older that I am, at most!"

"Can that be? Can—that—be true!" exclaimed Edith with mock astonishment. Then she added, "But there's a wide gulf, my dear, between being engaged and being married, and I think—"

"Oh, I know of course that you and Harry never have any quarrels and that—"

"Don't we!" This time there was no mockery in her tone. "Don't we! Well I should say we do! Money bills, too much staying at his club, where we'll go for the summer—whether the egg that doesn't suit him was boiled three-and-a-half minutes or four! Why, my dear girl, there are just loads and loads of things to quarrel about after you are married which wouldn't seem possible, much less probable, before!"

"I shall never marry—never!" sighed Helen. "I am quite through!"

Edith toyed with her spoon a moment. Presently she looked up. "What was the last word—the very last—he said to you over the 'phone?" she asked.

Helen flushed. She hesitated, and then answered: "'Damn these women, anyway!' Oh, of course he didn't know I heard that; he thought I'd hung up."

Edith sighed contentedly and relaxed in her chair. "Then it's all right, my dear. You needn't worry your pretty head one bit more about it. And you can be certain he's told you the truth about this—this actress person, as you call her. I've no doubt but what she's really a charming girl. Roy will come to you—don't worry."

"I don't want to—I won't see him! That's final!" protested Helen.

"Gracious! Oh, my, how opportune!" There was something almost electric in Edith's tone; and Helen looked up quickly to follow her gaze down the room.

And there—coming toward them, smiling—was Roy!

"I'll stay only a minute, my dear," Edith hastened to say. "You haven't had a bite to eat—and he looks hungry, though I'm rather inclined to think it isn't for his lunch."

"Edith! Edith, don't go! I shan't stay—I won't!"

"Oh yes you will—don't be entirely a little fool, my dear. At least, he hasn't got his er—a—his actress person with him today * * * * Oh, how fortunate, Roy—we are so glad to see you—we've just been talking about you—Helen isn't quite herself and hasn't eaten a bite of lunch, so maybe you can induce her to do so—no, no, really I can't stay a moment—I've a dozen things to attend to—oh, my no, though it's nice of you, Roy, but I really must pay my own check—here, take my seat—and—and—I've already picked out just the dearest wedding present for you two foolish young things—and—well, au revoir, and I hope you'll enjoy your lunch—both of you!"

TIME FOR PORCH BOXES HAS NOW COME.

THE housekeeper who is tired of seeing the well meaning geranium in her window and porch boxes should try growing petunias instead. She should buy plants of solid colors—pink, for instance, and there is a petunia that is of the loveliest shade of salmon pink without a trace of magenta about it. The fringed sorts are prettiest. Some of the most beautiful window boxes seen last year were at the windows of a large house and the alternate boxes were planted with white and purple petunias of the trailing kind, so that the vines hung down, completely covering the wooden sides of their receptacle. Petunias do well in partial shade.

When the conditions are such that geraniums must be used German ivy should be planted along the front of the boxes to add grace and foliage to them.

LITTLE FABLES OF THE BUSINESS WORLD

Many Words and Loud Ones

THERE was once a certain Young Man who Loved to Hear himself Talk. He didn't Claim that his Voice possessed any of the harmony of a Heavenly Choir, nor even that it might have made Demosthenes jealous. As an Orator, in fact, he was a fine Huckster. But—stick a Pin here—he knew that What he Said, not How he said it, held his Listeners Spellbound.

Perhaps they were Spellbound; maybe not. At all events, though, there was Something the Matter with them. They looked as though they'd been Hypnotized or had a Gypsy-Curse put upon them. They couldn't Move. They were Lashed to the Mast. He had 'em Buffaloed.

Start anything in the Conversational Line—any subject—and you wouldn't have to Finish it. He'd do it for you. In fact, he wouldn't Let you. He'd Butt Right In and take the Very Words right out of your Mouth. That's the kind of an Hombre he was!

And the Words of Wisdom that dropped from his Lips! He often thought it was, as the proverb hath it, like casting certain kinds of Precious Stones before Swine. But even then, be it noted, he continued to Cast.

At the office of a morning he wasn't Ready to settle down to the Day's Work until he had Started Something. It could be about the War in Europe, the Mexican Muddle, the coming Conventions to name an Applicant for the White House, the Reason why the Price of Gasoline is Soaring, or the question of whether or not Ice ever gets Colder than Freezing Point. It was All the Same to him—and he'd take Either Side. But he must have the Discussion. Rather, to be exact, he must have Somebody say Something—so he could Take It Up right there and then Do all the Talking himself.

Opinions? Why, he had one concerning Everything Under the Sun and above it! If he hadn't when the Subject happened to be Started, it took only about Three Seconds for him to form one and Spout it. Moreover, he was always Sure he was Right. He didn't Argue, he simply Affirmed. He never listened to what the Other Fellow was saying to him—when th' Poor Boob did manage to get in a word Edgewise—for he was thinking all the time he Gasped for breath about what he was going to say Next. Also, many words and Loud ones was his Idea of Carrying the Point.

At lunch-time he couldn't Eat in Comfort unless he was Casting a few of his Pearls before some of the Fellows. And he'd stop right in the middle of his Work, any old time, to Hand out a Word or Two of Wisdom. Though he didn't know it, of course, the chances were that he Talked in his Sleep.

Well, one day, came a new Fellow into the office. He had a Minor Job and he looked Green. Also, he was a Quiet Chap. He hadn't been two hours at his Desk before Our Hero opened up on him. He said a Lot, too, but the New Arrival just Muttered a word or two and went on with his Work. He never even made a Motion like Rising to the Bait.

Nothing daunted, Our Hero tried him again at Noon. Nothing doing. New Employe just kept on at his Sandwich. Again, just before Quitting Time, O. H. took another Whack at him. Still no Back-Talk.

All of which had Our Hero going Next day, same Result. O. H. got Weak under the Gills and began to feel around for his Goat. The other fellows in the Office became interested. And they saw how the fact that the New Arrival just wouldn't Come Back with anything conversational was Getting under the Skin of O. H.

Two days later, they formed a Conspiracy.

Next morning, O. H. started off as usual, but with an Harassed Look. He Shied One at the New Chap—the Bell didn't even Tinkle. So, in despair, he fell back on an Old Friend—one who always had some Come Back. But, this time, Said Old Friend merely yawned.

O. H. blinked a few times and tackled another. Same result.

And again—and again—and even Once More.

Not a soul in the Office had a Word to say—they just let him Ramble on!

For three days he was home. Sick. Then he came back to the office—Cured! The Gift of Gab seemed to have Taken Wings. He kept his mouth Shut. His own Conversation seemed to Bore him. He had Nothing to Say!

Moral:—Speech may be Silver and Silence gold, but a Hot-Air Artist hands out nothing but Counterfeit!

He'd do it for you!

COTTON MARKET DECLINES

Storm News Fails to Inspire General or Aggressive Buying—8 to 13 Points Off.

New York, July 10.—Failure of storm news to inspire any general or aggressive buying seemed to discourage old longs in the cotton market here today and prices eased off under scattering liquidation or selling for a reaction. October sold down from 13.17 to 12.99, closing at 13.01, with the general list closing steady at a net decline of 8 to 13 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 6 to 7 points on relatively steady cables and reports of continued rain in the eastern belt over the week-end The prospects, however, appeared to be for clearing weather working eastward from the southwest and in the absence of any general buying prices soon turned easier under realizing. Private crop advices from the outskirts of the storm area laid stress on the probability of increased boll weevil activity. There was scattering local pressure as prices eased off from the best. Very slight rallies met increased offerings and the low point of the day was reached in the late trading with July selling at 12.85 and December at 13.17 or about 10 to 13 points net lower. Closing prices were within a point or two of the lowest.

COTTON OIL MARKET.

New York, July 10. — The cotton seed oil market was generally lower all day, although a shade steadier near the close on an upturn in lard. Stop loss orders were reported on the decline, influenced by prospects for improving weather in the southeast. There were no July tenders and no offerings of new crop crude. Final prices showed a partial 2 to 7 point decline.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Market Closes Steady at Lowest Prices of the Season.

New Orleans, July 10.—On prospects of more settled weather in the eastern half of the belt the cotton market today, after a higher opening, went to a moderate decline, closing steady at the lowest of the season, a net loss of 9 to 14 points.

The opening was favorably affected by good cables and in the early trading prices rose seven points. The market paid little attention to reports of further successes of the Entente Allies, or to political news of any sort. Short selling was encouraged to some extent by talk of a reaction from the advance and by the claim that a large long interest had recently been built up.

Closing bid: August 12.70; October 12.80; December 12.96; January 13.06; March 13.25.

Spot cotton steady unchanged. Sales on the spot 725 bales; to arrive 770 bales; middling 13.0?

STOCK MARKET FEVERISH

United States Industrial Alcohol Breaks 21 Points—Demand Loans 6 Per Cent.

New York, July 10.—An extreme decline of 21 points in United States Industrial Alcohol, one of the better war contract stocks, and a rise in call loans to 6 per cent, a new high rate for day to day accommodations since the re-opening of the stock exchange in December, 1914, were the outstanding features of today's nervous and feverish session.

The break in Alconol from 128 1-2 to 107 1-2, was almost steady but made greater progress in the final hour. Gossip ascribed the liquidation to cancellation of war orders and internal differences over questions of policy.

The 6 per cent money rate which applied mainly to belated borrowers, was not considered unusual as some intimation of the advance was contained in last Saturday's returns of local clearing house institutions, whose actual reserves disclosed a shrinkage of almost $36,000,000.

A majority of the other war stocks were heavy in sympathy with Alcohol but recessions were relatively nominal. Tennessee Copper also suffered further liquidation and American coal products fell 7 1-4 points. Motors for the most part were subject to additional pressure and United States Steel receded a point on publication of the June tonnage statement, showing the first decrease in unfilled business—about 300,000 tons—in almost a year.

Representative rails, particularly Reading and Canadian Pacific, were heavy at times.

Speculative bond issues registered declines on light offerings. Total sales, par value, $2,830,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

SALVATION ARMY GETS HOME

To Erect $10,000 Building in Durham —Citizens Help.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Durham, N. C., July 10.—The Salvation Army, Inc., of New York, today purchased a building lot on Mangum street from General Julian S. Carr, on which to erect a permanent home. The consideration was $2,700. Work on the home will begin in the near future and when completed will represent an investment of $10,000.

B. N. Duke has practically assured the local army corps of his support financially as has Mr. George W. Watts, which means that the building will go up rapidly when once started. Adjutant Bouterse, head of the local army branch, was loath to give out facts about the proposed building, but did admit that it would be fully equipped for the work.

OMNIBUS REVENUE MEASURE PASSED

Creates Tariff Commission and Imposes Protective Tariff on Dyestuffs.

REPEALS STAMP TAXES

Provides for New Taxes on Incomes, Inheritances and War Munitions Profits—Vote Was 240 to 140—Amended.

Washington, July 10.—The administration's omnibus revenue bill, creating a tariff commission, imposing a protective tariff on dyestuffs, repealing present stamp taxes and providing for new taxes on incomes, inheritances and war munitions profits, passed the House late today by a vote of 240 to 140.

During the closing hours of debate several amendments providing for elimination of the bankers' tax and modifying the tariff commission, were adopted over the opposition of Democratic leaders. On the final roll call the Democrats voted solidly for the bill and were joined by 34 Republicans, five Progressive-Republicans, one independent and one Socialist.

The amendments adopted cut the salaries of the tariff commission from $10,000 to $7,500 annually; struck out the provision under which no member or former member of Congress could serve on the commission and provided a single appropriation of $300,000 to pay expenses of the commission the first year instead of a continuing annual appropriation of that amount. The entire section levying a tax of $1 for each $1,000 of capital, surplus and undivided profits held by bankers was stricken out.

Many Amendments Adopted.

Many amendments proposed by the Ways and Means committee also were adopted, including one under which cigarette manufacturers must pay a special tax of three cents for every 10,000 cigarettes.

A final Republican stand against the measure was led by Representative Fordney, ranking Republican member of the Ways and Means committee, who moved that it be re-committed with instructions "to amend it so as to raise an equitable portion of the required revenue from a protective tariff sufficient to protect adequately American industry and American labor." Democratic Leader Kitchin made a point of order against the motion and was sustained by Speaker Clark, whose ruling was upheld by the House on an appeal.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, increases the sur-tax on incomes, ranging from an additional 1 per cent on incomes between $20,000 and $40,000, to 10 per cent additional on those above $500,000 and taxes on transfers of estates valued at $50,000 or more and net profits of war munitions manufacturers with an exemption of those having less than 10 per cent profit.

The new taxes are expected to yield $197,000,000 annually.

The tariff commission would be composed of five members, no more than three to be of the same political party, and would have broad powers of investigation.

ness relationships with them? Then will you go in as neighbors and enjoy their confidence? On the contrary, you will have shut every door as if it were of steel.

"What makes Mexico suspicious of us is that she does not believe as yet that we want to serve her. She believes we want to possess her. And she has justification for the belief in the way in which some of our fellow citizens have tried to exploit her privileges and possessions. For my part, I will not serve the ambitions of those gentlemen, but I will try to serve all America so far as intercourse with Mexico is concerned, by trying to serve Mexico herself."

Right to Defend Border.

The President insisted, however, on the absolute right of the United States to defend her border, but as to going further, stated his position by a reference to the Virginia Bill of Rights.

"The bill says that a people have a right to do anything they please with their own country and their own government," he said.

"I am going to stand by that belief. That is for the benefit of those gentlemen who want to butt in."

The President then spoke of the value of mutual understanding and added:

"This, my friends, is the simple message that I bring you: Lift your eyes to the horizons of business; do not look too close at the little processes with which you are concerned, but let your thoughts and your imaginations run abroad throughout the whole world, and with the inspiration of the thought that you are Americans and are meant to carry liberty and justice and the principles of humanity wherever you go, go out and sell goods that will make the world more comfortable and more happy, and convert them to the principles of America."

"WAR ONLY IN CASE OF UNMISTAKABLE NECESSITY"

Toledo, Ohio, July 10.—"The United States will go to war only in case of unmistakable necessity," said President Woodrow Wilson in a five-minute talk at the union station here this afternoon on his way back to Washington from Detroit.

Representative Sherwood, a strong opponent of preparedness, introduced the President at Toledo with the statement that he and the executive agreed on many things. Then the President told the crowd how they had disagreed on preparedness.

"General Sherwood has been opposing preparedness and I have been advocating it," he said, "and I am very sorry to have found him on the other side, because I think you will bear me witness, fellow citizens, that in advocating preparedness I have not been advocating hostility. You will bear me witness that I have been a persistent friend of peace and that nothing but unmistakable necessity will drive me from that position."

"I know just as well as I am standing here that I represent and am the servant of a nation that loves peace and that loves it on the proper basis; loves it not because it is afraid of anybody; loves it not because it does not understand and mean to maintain its rights; but because it knows that humanity is something which we are all linked together, and that it behooves the United States just as long as it is possible to hold off from becoming involved in a strife which makes it all the more necessary that some part of the world should be cool while all the rest of it is hot."

MOB VIOLENCE WORST CRIME OF THE AGE

Declares Judge Bond in Charge to Wake Grand Jury

Has Special Reference to Greene-Lenoir Lynching Case, Conducted by Him—Montgomery Wants a Court Term.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 10.—Just from his probe the past week at Kinston into the Greene-Lenoir county Joe Black lynching case, Judge W. M. Bond included the crime of lynching in his charge to the jury in convening Wake county Superior court this morning. He told the jurors that lynching or mob violence is the worst crime of the age and should be stamped out in most determined way and a spirit of absolute law observance instilled into the rank and file of the people.

He was glad that investigations showed that it is not the best people of any community that give way to mob demonstrations, but is usually the shiftless and irresponsible. While there were no mob crimes to be investigated in this county, the judge felt that there should be expressions from the bench in discouragement of mobs and in appeal to the best sentiment of the people which is always against such outbreaks.

The judge urged the Wake jurors to look thoroughly into violations of the prohibition laws and crimes for which liquors and the like are responsible. He said a long period of observation on his part both as a lawyer and a judge had convinced him that whiskey had clothed more women in rags and blasted the hopes of more children than all other agencies of evil combined.

Montgomery Wants Court.

Montgomery county was appealing to Governor Craig today through court officers and members of the bar to provide a judge to hold a term of Superior court this week. The county authorities had gone ahead and prepared for a court to open today, having the jury on hand and all ready for the judge to convene the court. They were under the impression that Judge Frank Carter was scheduled to be there. Judge Carter did not show up and the statute and the calendar of Superior courts showed no court for Montgomery and that Judge Carter was supposed to have a week off.

The situation was brought to the attention of Governor Craig at Asheville by telephone and he undertook personally to communicate with Judge Carter in Asheville. It is not known here yet whether Montgomery will have her court this week or not.

On a telegram from Governor Stuart, of Virginia, to Governor Craig making the request, W. L. Goodwin and Coleman Merritt, are being held at Louisburg awaiting requisitions from Virginia to return them to that commonwealth to answer the charge of murder. The extraditions will be resisted, according to a letter to Governor Craig from W. M. Person, of Louisburg, who has been retained as counsel by the two young men, Goodwin and Merritt.

ATTORNEY TELLS WHY ORPET POISONED THE LAMBERT GIRL

In Argument He Undertakes to Show the Motive Behind Crime.

Waukegan, Ills., July 10.—In opening the argument for the state today at the trial of Will H. Orpet, charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Marion Lambert, Attorney Eugene M. Rudyard declared the defendant had poisoned girl in Helms Wood last February to prevent an exposure which would end his career at the University of Wisconsin, severe his engagement to Celestia Yoker and cause strained relations with his parents.

Referring to Orpet's now facous alibi letter ,the attorney said:

"He wrote in his alibi letter to Marion 'I have not ehard from you in a long time.' If he expected Marion to read his own letter, why make a remark that Marion would know was untrue if she had written to him threatening suicide as he has told us. There was no such letter to him, gentlemen, and the one he addressed to her he knew would be read by her grief stricken parents, and it was worded with that and nothing else in view."

The arguments will continue tomorrow.

viously given American military authorities and gave assurances that Carranza troops would make every effort to check the attempted raid.

The substance of the message was forwarded to General Funston.

The ambassador also assured Mr. Polk that the searching of a Mexican sailing vessel near Guaymas by officers from an American gunboat had been sufficiently explained.

Mr. Arredondo momentarily is expecting the word from his government which will make it possible to begin the diplomatic negotiations now agreed to by both sides.

Published reports that National Guardsmen mobilized for border duty were not being properly fed were denied in a war department statement issued during the day.

TO INTIMIDATE NO MAN IN EXERCISE OF RIGHT

The purpose is to guarantee the rights of the people according to law.

"I call upon all the good citizens of Wilmington to counsel peace in the settlement of the trouble in that city with just and humane regard to all concerned. Violence would work irreparable injury to all. Surely none of the citizens of Wilmington can complain of the presence of soldiers, whose only purpose is to keep the peace, when in the opinion of the constituted authorities the peace has been threatened

RALEIGH IS PREPARING FOR FIREMEN OF STATE

For Biggest Tournament and Convention Ever Held.

Commissioner Graham, After Trip Through Western Part of State, Says Wheat Crop is Good; Others Less Promising.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 10.—The Raleigh firemen, backed up by the business men and commercial organizations of the city, are all ready for making the State convention and tournament of the North Carolina Firemen's Association the biggest success in the history of the organization so far as entertainment and programme are concerned. There are [illegible] to be competed for the value of which mount up into the hundreds of dollars. The opening day is July 17, continuing through July 20.

That the wheat crop in Western Carolina is threshing out much better than had been expected and will prove a very good yield of fair quality brain is the report made today by Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham, who has been in the western section of the State for the past two weeks, spending a portion of the time on his plantation in Lincoln county.

Major Graham says he found that the corn crop on the uplands and the best drained lowlands is quite good, but that the bottom lands that have been submerged several times during the season of growth of the crop is in very poor condition. Excessive rains have much retarded some of the upland corn on sandy soils where it has turned yellow and gives promise of only poor yield.

The oats crop, Major Graham says, is about the poorest that has been grown in this State with short and sparse straw and poorly developed heads.

His observations of the cotton crop are that the plants are growing rapidly but in too spindling a manner. He fears that there is not sufficient body to the stalks and that they are not spreading in such manner as will assure the fullest type of yield of the fleecy staple.

AMICABLE AGREEMENT IN STREET CAR STRIKE REACHED LAST NIGHT

consisting of itself, the councilmen of the city of Wilmington, including the Mayor, the county commissioners of the county of New Hanover, the Register of Deeds of New Hanover county, the sheriff of New Hanover county, the Clerk of the Superior Court of New Hanover county, the members of the committee to be selected by the ministers of the various denominations of the city from the membership of the different churches of the city."

Members of the committee pointed out last night that the basis of settlement involved concessions on the part of both employes and the Tidewater Power Company and eliminated permanently through authority given to the Citizens' committee any cause of controversy.

The settlement does not provide recognition of a union but the employes expressed satisfaction as to this feature because they are given ample opportunity to adjust any grievance before a distinterested committee.

Mr. Ben Commons, fourth vice president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Employes of America ,who has been representing the striking employes, expressed satisfaction last night over the satisfactory outcome of the work of the Citizens' committee and expressed the hope that nothing but good would come from it. He declared that the local branch of the organization represented by him was never intended to fight the street car company but to promote better relations. Mr. Commons said he would be in the city for ten days yet.

It is understood that today the military companies in Wilmington, called here on account of the strained conditions, will be ordered home by Governor Craig, who has expressed his intention of following the will of the local constituted authorities.

Letter of Employes.

The following letter was addressed to the Citizens' committee yesterday afternoon by the employes of the Tidewater Power Company:

Wilmington, N. C., June 10, 1916.

"To the Citizens' Committee,

"Gentlemen: We, the former employes of the Tidewater Power Company, whose names are hereunder signed, agree to return at once to the employment of the company, if the Tidewater Power Company will renew the offer made to us yesterday morning, in a letter from Mr. Hugh MacRae to Rev. Thomas P. Noe, including the memorandum of available positions presented by Mr. Skelding; and in addition will pledge its best efforts to employ the remaining ten men within the next thirty days.

"Respectfully subscribed."

(Signed by fifty-eight of the men, or all of them.)

Letter of Committee.

Upon receipt of this letter, the Citizens' committee addressed the following communication to Mr. Hugh MacRae, recommending acceptance of the proposition submitted:

Wilmington, N. C., July 10, 1916.

"Mr. Hugh MacRae, President, Tide-Water Power Company, Wilmington, N. C.

"Dear Sir: The Citizens' committee has just received the enclosed proposition from the former employes of your company, agreeing to accept your offer of yesterday, with a slight modification which does not affect any principle involved; and being eager to bring about a restoration of the former harmonious relations between your company the men; and to restore the good order and peace of the community, we have unanimously resolved to recommend that you accept this overture from your former employes, in spite of any financial obligations that it may involve.

"And we pledge to you the moral support of this committee and, through our most earnest efforts, the fullest co-operation of the entire community to secure on the part of your employes a most loyal and faithful support, to the end that we may bring about such reparation, moral and financial, as we can for the great losses sustained by your company, because of this unfortunate situation; and we have unhesitatingly pledged your company to do every honorable thing for your employes, in case you accept this agreement. We do this the more readily because we know your past record for fair dealing, and also because the men themselves have publicly acknowledged this fact.

"We realize that you have not only sustained heavy loss, but have been caused great embarrassment; yet we believe that we can ask you to accept this adjustment in the interest of the public good without loss of honor to yourself; and we feel that thus the good will of the community will be greatly and permanently enhanced.

"Very sincerely,

"THOMAS P. NOE,

"Chairman."

Mr. MacRae's Letter.

Upon receipt of this letter from the Citizens' committee, Mr. MacRae prepared the following letter which was submitted late in the afternoon:

"July 10, 1916.

"Mr. Thos. P. Noe, Chairman, the Citizens' Committee, Wilmington, N. C.

"Dear Sir: The letter that you have just read dated July 10 embodying the results of your continued efforts for the good of the community, is entirely clear and the spirit expressed therein is deeply appreciated and entirely satisfactory. Fortunately we are in a position to accept the renewed proposition of the men signed by all of them, and which proposition you submit with your letter, as we have declined since 8 o'clock this morning to employ new men except with the reservation that the employment would be subject to the action of your committee.

"Your committee understands that your former letter to me dated July 9 transmitting a proposition from the men which proposition while not accepted because of certain terms, did contain acknowledgments of the men which are to be considered a part of this agreement. Further it is understood that my letter to you dated July and which I now read to your committee in order to refresh your memories, is not only a part of this agreement, but it is, as mentioned in the letter of the men of July 10, the actual basis of the agreement.

"The value of any agreement and all agreements rests absolutely on mutual good faith; and in accepting the proposition recommended by you, I do it with the understanding that your committee as at present constituted will be authorized by all parties to the agreement to interpret without question at any time requested the meaning, purpose, and good faith of every clause and sentence; and it is understood that you will undertake to do this in order to establish permanently peace and good will in the community.

"Attached hereto is copy of 'Exhibit B' being a memorandum to be interpreted in connection with the said agreement. Clauses Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 13, 14, and the first three lines only of No. 15, are operative. These clauses having been approved and agreed to. Clause No. 9, is operative except as modified by my letter. All other clauses and parts of 'Exhibit B' are eliminated and made void by the interpretation of my letter of July 9.

"I would expect that the committee would take in connection with paragraph No. 13 my reference to it embodied in the second and third paragraphs on Page 4 and the first five lines and the second paragraphs on Page 5, in my letter to the men dated July 1.

"The interpretation of clause 2 on page 2 of my letter of July 9 to the committee, is understood to refer entirely and solely to the interests and rights of the men individually, which rights happen to be referred to in the memorandum known as 'Exhibit B,' but said interpretation does not refer in any sense to the memorandum as a whole or to the parts which obviously become obsolete and are plainly nullified by the spirit of my letter .

"I further gladly agree that the company will use its best efforts to employ the men who will be placed on the waiting list, within 30 days from this date. It must be understood, however, that in the fall when our dull season commences, the customary layoffs will be necessary and must be expected. A memorandum of these and the reasons for them we will gladly submit to your committee.

"It is further understood, as I mentioned to your chairman in the personal letter of July 9, that I would expect to place the same facts which I have placed before you, before a larger committee to be chosen by you in some fair way, the reason being that I do not want the community or any part of it to have ground for saying that the settlement with the men was not entirely just and fair.

"Further it is essential to the company, if it is to hope to repair the damages done to it, which we must now bend our energies to do, to have the co-operation of the community to an extent and in certain directions that has not heretofore been the case. There are two reasons for this: First, the future policy of the company in doing its share to help build the city of Wilmington and the resort of Wrightsville Beach, must be shaped in accordance with the avowed public sentiment. The second is a personal reason, the writer finds it necessary to decide at this time whether his future interests will be continued in the city of Wilmington or elsewhere.

"Very truly yours,

"HUGH MACRAE.

"President, Tidewater Power Co."

Mr. E. E. Page announced last night that he expects all motormen and conductors who severed their connection with the Tidewater Power Company on July 4, to report in their uniforms at their hall at Third and Princess streets at 8 o'clock this morning, so as to be able to take their runs without delay about noon today.

Baltimore, July 10.—Rain today interfered with plans for the entertainment of delegates and visitors to the National convention here of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to Elvington's Pharmacy or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless, and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.
